Heroes In Philippines Send Birthday Message To President Roosevelt

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Faced with what the war department termed "resumption of a large scale offensive," Gen. Douglas MacArthur's valiant Philippine defenders nevertheless took time out today to send greetings and a prayer to President Roosevelt on his 60th birthday.

Indicating the valor of the gallant American-Philippine forces, the fact that the Japanese appeared to be making wide preparations for a final all-out offensive designed to wipe out the last vestiges of resistance on the islands.

Message From Philippines

Gen. MacArthur's message read: "Today, Jan. 30, the anniversary of your birth, smoke—begrimed men covered with the marks of battle, rise from the fox holes of Bataan and the batteries of Corregidor to pray fervently that God may bless you immeasurably the president of the United States."

The terse news from Bataan, however, indicated that the long-

Congressman Dies Tells Audience Here Of Perils To Nation

In an address which rang with patriotic fervor, Congressman Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the house committee which for four years has exposed the machinations of individuals and organizations attempting to overthrow our government, last night brought to light the tremendous effort which these well organized minorities had exerted to accomplish their ends, and pleaded with his audience to dedicate their every effort to the winning of this war, and the preservation of democracy in the chaotic years which are bound to follow. He spoke at The Cathedral under the auspices of the Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory.

A real orator, Congressman Dies held his audience in rapt attention as he told instance after instance of the astonishing things his committee had discovered, only to be balked by the indifference of those in authority for fear of offending those nations, whose subjects these enemies of our nation were working for.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Jan. 30.—Smashing new Soviet advances in the Donets Basin and on the front northwest of Moscow were revealed by Russian authorities today, and Red army forces were declared to be threatening the strategic Dnieper River bend.

A war communique announced the reoccupation of Lozovaya, an important junction on the Crimea-Kharkov rail line 75 miles south of Kharkov.

Fifty Mile Advance

Latest advices said the southern army commanded by Marshal Semyon Timoshenko took this town in the course of a spectaculuar 50-mile advance which brought his troops within 50 miles of the Dnieper river.

On the front northwest of Moscow further sections of the Rzhevvelikiye Luki railway were reported captured in a maneuver that tightened the Russian ring around the Nazi garrison at Rzhev.

A supplementary bulletin issued this afternoon said that in a single day's fighting the Red army liberated 30 localities on the front northwest of Moscow.

West of the capital, this communique added, a sniper unit attacked a Nazi airdrome, destroying 12 planes.

(The London Daily Mail reported from Stockholm that fleets of German troop-carrying planes are flying to northern Russia with reserves drawn from Denmark, Norway and France in an effort to hold the Leningrad-Smolensk gap.

Reserves Suffer Losses

(Some of these reserves already have arrived at the front and "suffered heavy losses" according to the Mail.)

Despite stiffening resistance on the part of the Germans, the Russians occupied a number of strategic points, the high command said.

RANGOON, Jan. 30.—A fierce engagement between British imperial troops and Japanese and Thai soldiers has developed east of Moulmein, and fighting continues, an official communique declared today. The situation in southern Burma was said to be "well in hand."

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The wording of the Middle East communique is such that "we must have lost Bengazi," authoritative military quarters in London conceded today. It was said that some British troops possibly may have remained at Bengazi and that these may be able to escape the Nazi forces if sea transport is available. The British definitely had no intention of making Bengasi another Tobruk, where imperial troops held out despite a seven-month Axis siege.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 30.—Military authorities and police in Eire and northern Ireland today started a major hunt for Irish Republican army members suspected of acting as Nazi spies.

Special orders were issued to American expeditionary force camp guards not to allow unauthorized persons near military zones.

It was understood all employees engaged in military and naval construction work in northern Ireland are undergoing close examination.

BATAVIA, Jan. 30.—Maintaining the enviable average of one ship a day, air and naval forces of the Dutch East Indies have sunk or heavily damaged 54 Japanese vessels of all classifications in the first 54 days of the Pacific war, according to an official summary released today.

At the same time, N. E. I. military headquarters said that hard-fighting Dutch troops and guerilla warriors were stubbornly resisting Japanese invaders on four sectors of the battlefront.

Intense Struggle

An intense struggle was reported under way on the northern portion of Dutch West Borneo, where the Japs yesterday launched a sea-borne and overland assault on Pontianak.

Fighting also was believed to be continuing in the Kendari region of Celebes Island.

Simultaneously, news was received of fighting in two areas previously reported occupied by the enemy.

A new Dutch war communique said guerillas still are operating in the Minahassa region of Northern Celebes Island.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 30.—Grimly fighting British Imperial troops in lower Johore today were slowly forced back towards the causeway linking the mainland with Singapore Island by superior Japanese forces.

The enemy is now only 18 miles away.

The Japanese assault came from three directions, down the east coast, the west coast and in the center, strongly supported by warplanes.

Maximum casualties were being inflicted on the enemy, it was revealed, but Japanese pressure and infiltration tactics continued to force the Imperials back, step by grudging step.

According to the now familiar phraseology of the communque the British were forced to withdraw "in order to maintain their lines."

The Japanese invaders were termed, seaoned, well-equipped troops, who enjoyed a tremendous numerical advantage.

Australian Authorities Reveal That Newly Created Council To Meet In United States

UNITY OF ACTION IN PACIFIC PLAN

By LEE VAN ATTA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MELBOURNE, Jan. 30.—Australian authorities revealed today that headquarters of the newly created Pacific war council will be situated in Washington.

Establishment of the Pacific council was announced by Prime Minister Winston Churchill earlier this week in his address opening the war debate of the house of commons in London.

Creation of the council marks another step in efforts of the United Nations to obtain the fullest possible coordination and unity of action against Japan in the Pacific war theatre.

Initiative Passes

That this aim already is well on the way to achievement was demonstrated by a statement of Australian Army Minister Francis M. Forde that initiative in the Pacific conflict already has passed to the United Nations.

This view was supported by advices that the roaring sea battle in Macassar Strait by now has knocked out no less than 46 Japanese warships and transports, which have fallen victim to United States and Netherlands East Indies air and naval forces.

If these reports are substantiated, it would mean the original Japanese invasion fleet which started out last week on a perilous voyage between Borneo and Celebes Islands now has been reduced by nearly one-half.

First Real Jap Check

Forde described this smashing blow as the first real check to Japanese seapower since the Pacific war began.

"It is evidence," he declared, "that we can seek out the Japanese and attack them.

"The initiative has passed to the Allies in the Pacific."

Paying tribute to the Netherlands Indies army and navy, Forde said he believed they could hold out until the United Nations muster enough strength to crush the Japs.

Despite this optimistic view, however, preparations for defense of the Australian mainland were moving ahead at top speed.

Voluntary evacuation of women and children from some areas of the northeast coastal area, menaced by the Japanese lanndings on New Britain Island, continued, and other precautions were being perfected.

Northeastern coastal towns also prepared for possible Japanese bombing raids.

my force which on Wednesday reached Regima also pressed on and by nightfall established itself across the coast road north of Bengazi.

Withdrawal Forced

"These converging attacks by greatly superior enemy forces made further withdrawal of our troops inevitable, and the fourth Indian division covering Bengazi has now been withdrawn northwest of the town.

"In the Msus area, where a substantial enemy force, including tanks, still remains, enemy detachments patrolling to the northeast withdrew upon making contacts with our patrols.

"Our fighters continued successfully to give protection to our troops."

Prior to issuance of this new communique, British advices had indicated that Nazi General Erwin Rommel's army had reached Regima, 16 miles due east of Bengazi, while other Axes fores took up positions to the south.

British fighters and bombers supported imperial ground troops in efforts to halt the Axis counter-attack, which has made rapid progress over 150 miles of desert terrain from El Agheila in the past few days.

of Vvazma on the Kaluga railway, and Suhevichi, an important junction 150 miles southwest of Moscow on a network of railroads connecting Moscow, Bryansk and Smolensk, were taken by the constantly advancing Red armies.

In addition, west of Moscow, the villages of Alexandrovo and Mokroye were recaptured, it was announced.

A new communique issued by the high command at noon today said fighting continued throughout the night.

The increased German resistance was attributed to arrival of fresh German reinforcements, many of them rushed to the front by plane.

Despite this, it was emphasized, the Russian forces still are advancing. Authorities added that the retreating Nazis are burning cities and villages behind them.

The midnight communique said that between January 18 and 27, no less than 25,000 German soldiers were killed and more were taken prisoner. Many of the Nazis losses were the result of attempted Nazi counterattacks, it was claimed.

Jap Reinforcements

"A patrol of air and surface craft scoured the area for several hours thereafter with no further reports of hostile forces sighted."

Scores of persons witnessed the action from shore.

The navy report was the first indication of enemy submarine activity off the California coast since December, when Japanese submarines torpedoed and sank two tankers—the Emidio and Montebello—off the northern California coast, badly damaged the freighter Absaroka off Redondo Beach and fired upon six other vessels.

With the sinking of an enemy submarine by an army bomber off California, the navy declared on January 9 that coastwise shipping had returned to "normal".

far south as Florida," a communique said. "Counter measures by our forces are increasingly effective."

While the navy's policy is to keep secret all details of enemy submarine sinkings, naval experts interpreted "increasingly effective counter measures" as meaning that the attacks are not all one-sided.

Further unofficial proof came from a navy spokesman who said that a navy pilot officer flashed back to his headquarters the message: "Sighted sub, sank same."

Damage Jap Subs

In the same communique, the navy disclosed that marine artillerymen damaged one of two Japanese subs which appeared suddenly off Midway Island to shell the mid-Pacific outpost.

Another announcement from west coast headquarters revealed that a "presumably hostile" U-boat had been sighted and attacked off the California coast. The sub was located by an army patrol plane, and shortly "depth charges were dropped in the area by navy planes," the announcement revealed. There was no "result immediately evident" the navy said, but air and surface patrol craft searched the area "for several hours with no further report of hostile vessels sighted."

Meanwhile, Secretary of War Stimson disclosed that the army and navy have put into effect the much-discussed "unified command plan," under which America's land, sea and air forces in certain areas will take their orders from one high-ranking army or navy official.

Stimson said that the plan now was in effect in at least four areas: Hawaii, Panama, the Caribbean and the south Pacific. The announcement followed by less than a week the Roberts report on Pearl Harbor which charged that the successful Japanese attack on Hawaii was due partly to lack of coordination between army and navy commanders at Honolulu.

Proof that the unified command plan was working to advantage in one war theater came in the form of dispatches from the Far East that American Army bombers, cooperating with U. S. and Dutch naval units, had sunk another Jap transport and set fire to one in a raid on Balikpapan harbor, Borneo.

MIDWAY: OUR FLAG IS STILL THERE

THE same dauntless heroism that distinguished the Marine garrison at Wake Island under heavy Japanese attack flamed also, it is now revealed by the Navy, on the "forgotten Island" of Midway.

On Dec. 7 that lonely outpost 1300 miles from Hawaii, in the bee-line direction of Japan, was assaulted by units of the enemy fleet. The Jap invasion and occupation failed. On Dec. 30 a Navy communique laconically noted that "the situation remains unchanged" at Midway.

The long silence since then was broken Tuesday when Navy spokesmen disclosed for the first time the stirring details of Midway's valiantly successful resistance.

The Japs as part of their surprise attack on American stepping stones across the Pacific had dispatched a cruiser and a destroyer to take over Midway. This was not strong as the force sent to Wake—large part of which was destroyed by the Marines on that island before they yielded to overwhelming superiority 14 days later—but it was believed sufficient to knock Midway out of the war.

The Marines showed the Japs how wrong they were. They spotted the approaching squadron, took its shelling until the ships came within range and then let them have it. Accurate shooting blew holes into the invasion vessels and sent them reeling away into the darkness, their mission a failure.

Those United States Marines are still in possession. The Stars and Stripes still float over Midway. The Japs were foiled completely there, just as they were compelled to sacrifice huge forces of men and ships and planes to seize Wake, just as they are still kept from Corregidor and Manila Bay and undisputed occupation of the Philippines by the tough courage of American fighting men.

The brass-hat blunders and omissions at Oahu have their bright counterbalance in the alertness, the resolution, the never-say-die deeds of the Wake and Midway Marines and Douglas MacArthur's heroes of Bataan.

AMERICANS IN THE WEST

Declaration by Winston Churchill that the American Expeditionary Force now in Northern Ireland will be greatly augmented has stirred new speculation in Washington and elsewhere on the possibility of an Allied drive on a new front against Hitler in the West. There could be no other object in sending a new AEF to Europe, it is argued, as Britain has several million men under arms in the British Isles, a force believed to be ample to frustrate invasion attempts by Hitler.

Some military men hold that dispatching of an American Expeditionary Force to Ireland is part of long-range Allied strategy and that it has no connection with military plans for next spring. This strategy is held to be based on the premise that if the Allies are ready, their opportunity will come sooner or later.

A frontal assault on Hitler through one of the occupied countries must be deferred until conditions are propitious for the attempt. If the Russians can turn the German retreat into a rout, the period that must elapse before Britain and the United States can attack Hitler on a new front might be speeded up considerably.

One military school of thought is convinced that Russian successes have not yet threatened Hitler with disaster because the Russians have not taken large numbers of prisoners. It is pointed out that when the Nazis overwhelmed Poland, Belgium and France—and when they were making gains in Russia—the extent to which they were cracking resistance was apparent from the number of prisoners being taken. A million and a half French prisoners are still being held by Hitler.

Should the Russian counter-offensive develop to the point that large numbers of German troops are cut off and captured, together with their equipment, the time for an Allied stroke on a new front might be nearer at hand than is now indicated.

COMPARATIVE SACRIFICE

We are now facing the serious readjustment necessary to put us on a war footing. Many people as yet do not seem to realize that we are really in a major war and go about their business as usual. We learn something of the sacrifice that must be made—for example, in the way of foregoing automobile tires. We know too that prices are going up. But a great many people have not realized that even more serious sacrifices are to come.

The proposed moving of many peace-time bureaus away from Washington to make way for war workers is a case in point. A great cry has arisen over these proposed removals, and this has even reached the halls of congress.

There is little question that such removals will bring about a great deal of inconvenience. The Patent Office which is to be removed, is a case in point. Out of 1,200 to be moved, 823 Patent Office employes answered a questionaire indicating that only 123 out of this number are unmarried. Of the number 402 own their own homes, have children in school and possess various social ties to Washington. The removal will mean the breaking of school, church and club affiliations.

This is of course quite a sacrifice. But if it is necessary there is little reason to see why it ought not be done. For it must be remembered this is a war for all of us. Winning it means saving the entire country. Losing local social affiliations is quite inconvenient, and is a sacrifice but not comparable with the sacrifice which is being made by the brave American soldiers on Luzon and which has already been made by the Marines on Wake Island. And the sacrifice is not comparable with that which is being or will have to be made by millions of fine young Americans going into our army, our navy or our airforce.

Wars are not fought now by armies but by nations and each individual must do his bit. Most American people realize this. The great majority would have avoided war if it could have been done honorably But now the die is cast and we have been treacherously attacked; all real Americans have rallied to the colors and are willing to do their bit. And remember no sacrifice is comparable to that willingly made by the boys who enter the service.

If the buggy returns to general use as a conveyance, will the antenna be installed in the whip socket?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SCHOOLS AND CHILD MORALE

For years I have entreated both parents and teachers to be patient with children and to exercise due regard for them as persons. Certainly such treatment is more imperative now than ever before, especially to build up home morale and thus help win this war.

In times of peace there were many worried and jittery children, because of worried and jittery parents and teachers. That there will be more as time goes on, until this war is over, is to be expected.

War news on the air—in some homes every 15 minutes—and constant discussions of the bad and good news; older brothers leaving home to join the armed forces and younger brothers waiting till old enough; the air charged with tensions and excitement—all help create a trying emotional atmosphere for younger children and parents.

It's fine when children exposed to tensions and anxieties at home can enjoy a haven of release at school; unfortunate, when at school they don't find emotional security, but their already shattered nerves are subjected to more strain.

Attitude of Teachers

Most teachers afford a comfortable atmosphere for children. Many, indeed, are wonderful in their understanding, insight and consideration of each child as a sensitive personality. Such teachers are growing better and their number is steadily increasing.

But unfortunately a few teachers have never acquired this precious are, and these may grow worse, unless they become aware of their deep obligations to the child and his country and discipline themselves accordingly.

Naturally, teachers like parents are keenly stirred up and anxious over the war. Some of them have brothers or other relatives at the front or soon to go there. Many a teacher has former pupils on her heart. Many suffer emotionally because they can't bear arms and get into the thick of the war themselves.

Her emotions from all such sources may make it hard for a teacher to exercise healthy poise before her children. Besides, she is having larger and larger classes, and is taking on more and more responsibilities outside the home.

Let us beg of the teacher to keep in mind the welfare of the children she teaches and, to this end, try to order her program and master her emotions so as to protect the children. After all, it is for these children, as our President and Winston Churchill reminded us in their Christmas messages, that older ones are offering their lives in defense. We want our children to be fit to profit from the victory when it is won.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I find that many of the things which you suggest for parents to do for their children can be used by adults and young people to improve their own personalities. I, being a young man, am especially interested in your points on self-improvement. Some time ago I received a copy of your 'Tips for Students,' and it has helped me make my time spent in study more effective. Will you please send me a copy of your 'Home Helps for Poor Spellers,' for which I am enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

A. It was sent: also a selected list of books on "Personality growth and mental health."

CHICAGO—Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, says the navy will fight on all fronts: "Hitler hatched this ghastly conspiracy on the whole world but the enemy is one enemy—an indivisable total enemy."

LONDON — Ambassador John G. CHICAGO — Dr. Morris Fishbein proposes an immediate campaign to improve the nation's eating habits: "People at war may be led into national habits in a manner which can never be duplicated in times of peace."

The best way to be a good parent is not to try to be too good a parent.

According to Dr. Margaret Meade of the New York Museum of Natural History, most parents over-protect their children.

Prepare your children to face life, with its perils and setbacks.

Make them self-sufficient enough not to be afraid of the realities.

Don't hide them in a dream-world of security and shelter. The shock will be so much greater when they have to go out on their own.

Teach your children that they are part of a group called "society" and that birth, marriage, death, fire and war are common to all of us.

Lead your children, but don't carry them.

The bartender served it and Mike poured it down.

"Now what is this fuss and trouble that is about to start?" the tavern man asked. "When is it going to begin?"

"It's started right now," Mike said sadly. "I've got no money to pay for those drinks."

SOCIAL INVITATIONS

Please outline for me the various kinds of social invitations there are and their proper replies. I would like to have this information on file for future reference."—Larry.

Answer—There are two general classes of invitations: Formal and informal. Among the functions requiring formal invitations are: Formal wedding, an elaborate tea, dinner or dance and a fashionable garden party. To ask guests to any of these, the hostess should use unruled sheets of plain white stationery folding once into the envelopes. These may be engraved or written in ink. Whether engraved or hand-written, the formal invitation should be worded in the third person: "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the honour of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones' presence" etc.

Replies should be worded likewise: "Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones accept with pleasure" etc. Such replies should be addressed to the person or persons issuing the invitation.

Informal invitations should be acknowledged informally: "Dear Mary: Bob and I will be delighted to dine with you" etc. Both the informal invitation and the informal reply may properly be given over the telephone.

Question—Is the marriage license given to the officiating clergyman on the wedding day; also what legal value has a marriage license?—B. T. B.

Answer—It should be given to the clergyman a day or so before the wedding. It has no legal effect until after the marriage ceremony has been performed.

Question—When should the wedding gift be sent to the bride?—Anne.

Answer—As soon as possible after receipt of the invitation, and the invitation usually arrives about two weeks before the date set for the wedding.

Tomorrow—Letters of Introduction.

ODD WAYS OF CHOOSING NAME

Choosing a name for a new baby is always a matter of anxious consideration. In certain lands, however, this anxiety has been minimized by the laying down of rules to guide the choice. The Mohammedans, for example, write five names on slips of paper and place them in a Koran. One slip is drawn out, and the name written thereon is bestowed upon the baby. With the Egyptians, three lighted candles are taken and named. The candle which burns the longest determines the child's name.

The Hindoos allow the mother to name a baby when it is 12 days old, but if the father does not like the chosen name, he selects another. Then the two names are written on slips of paper and held over a lighted lamp, that which burns the brighter being the name adopted. In China girl babies are considered not worth naming, and are simply numbered in order of birth. Chinese boys are not named until they are 20, when they receive fresh names especially chosen by their fathers.

UNWELCOME ARRIVAL.

Once upon a time, so an ancient story goes, the owner of a new car wished to test out its reputed speed to his own satisfaction. Choosing a straight stretch of good road for the trial, he placed his wife in the rear seat with the instruction, "I'm going to let her out a bit, Mamma. Please keep your eye out the back window. If you see a man coming on a motorcycle, be sure to let me know."

"Yes, Papa," she promised, and Papa proceeded to step her up—fifty, fifty-five — "Papa!" — "Yes" —sixty, sixty-five—"Papa!"—"Yes, Mamma, what is it?"—putt-putt—"Papa, the gentleman you vass expecting iss here!"

Capital Realizes Value Of Air Force
Some Of Ground Forces Are Die-Hards
Planes Will Replace Autos After War

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—For certain purposes, like the production of stuff to eat, for excavation in quest of the various metals required in the manufacture of airplanes, and as a source of supplies of gas that scoots the flyers through the air, the solid earth underneath us doubtless always will have some few utilities.

Otherwise, if aviation enthusiasts are right about it, indications are that terra firma's surrounding atmosphere presently will be the whole thing.

When our current war started surface fighters, on land and sea, agreed that planes were vitally important to armies and navies, but only as weapons for the groundlings, after all. Later, however, it began to be talked that the air force is in a class by itself, entitled to consideration as independently of mundane soldiers and sailors as these two surface groups are regarded independently of one another.

Now the chat's to the effect that the aviators not only are on a par with the earthlings, ashore and afloat, but are superior to 'em—that they're the birds who really win wars, with landsmen and seamen merely running errands for 'em down here below.

Earthly professionals don't admit it yet, but the heavenly experts say positively that it's a fact, and they're beginning to convince numerous other folk that they don't exaggerate.

All Important

Illustratively introducing a $12,555,872,474 appropriation bill for aviation's benefit, in his congressional branch the other day, Chairman Clarence Cannon of the representatives' allowance granting committee remarked, "The whole issue of this conflict depends upon taking and holding control of the air in every theater of the war." He didn't even mention continents, islands oceans and Mediterraneans as of any consequence; the heavens above 'em were all he took into account.

In connection with news publication of stories of that appropriation bill of Clarence's there was a queer little detail that I don't suppose anyone but a newspaperman would have noticed.

Into a journalistic headline the figure $12,555,872,474 doesn't fit a bit conveniently. It takes up too much room and a headline has to be compact. Consequently practically every headline writer in the country accepted "$12½ billions" as approximately correctly. A little inaccuracy of 55 millions and some odd didn't strike 'em as worth discussion.

As for our air corps' proportion in our total wartime setup, Brigadier General Frank E. Lowe, army chief of staff assistant, puts the rating, to come, as our program develops, at "nearly one-fourth"

Well, considering that flyers naturally are very carefully picked and trained, 25 per cent of 'em are quite a chunk in contrast to the other 75 per cent, scattered about among other subdivisions—infantry, artillery, tanks, cavalry, engineers and assorted services.

General Lowe deprecates jealousies among 'em though. In the last war the infantrys' theme song was, "The artillery, the cavalry and the lousy engineers, they couldn't lick the doughboys in a hundred thousand years."

The general won't encourage any of that sort of versification by the aviation this time. He wants cohesion.

And Afterward?

But what about post-war aviation?

Why, the plane, predicts Assistant Commerce Secretary Robert H. Hickley, will be what the auto was in the last dozen or 20 years. He doesn't forecast that aviation will totally supplant surface cars for heavy transportation on earth, but he does surmise that planes will practically eliminate flivvers for family use, that all first-class mail will be carried by 'em, not under air mai stamps, but just as a matter of course, and that passenger carriage will be second class, except aviationally. He doesn't believe that plane crashes will be any worse than surface auto accidents, either—in fact, not so bad for pedestrians.

"Indeed," he says, "I think that the air is our new industrial frontier."

He gives the war credit for opening it up. It's gratifying to have it given credit for anything.

The World and the Mud Puddles

"COSMETOLOGY"

Beauty parlors have come into existence as a part of modern civilization, comparatively recently, as a matter of fact, since the advent of bobbed hair. When Milady bobbed her hair, she needed assistance in the care of her hair and following this, as a matter of course, came treatment of the face, removing wrinkles and all that sort of thing. This facial treatment became, likewise, an art. In other words, if now a woman wishes to make a living by giving facial massages, must she also be an expert in the art of hair dressing?

Out in California, the state legislature among the thousand and one acts passed at each session thereof, passed a law requiring all persons practicing any branch of the art of "cosmetology" to take an examination covering all branches of art.

Now, there is a certain woman having her home in the movie colony of Hollywood, who had built up a clientele in the colnoy to the extent of giving thirty facial massages a week at ten dollars each to preserve the beauty of the movie queens and repell the wrinkles from their features. She did not, however, practice or inderstand the art of hair dressing. She asked the court to declare the Cosmetology Act unconstitutional, and her request was granted. Said the California Appellate Court:

"Unreasonable restriction on personal liberty is void. The right to labor and pursue any lawful employment in a lawful manner are rights enjoyed by the citizens under the Constitution of the United States.

"We can find nothing in the relation of facial massage with the arts of hair dressing which suggest that the public morals, safety, health or general welfare demands that the masseuse must be trained in these arts."

The learned judge suggested that hair dressing may be considered more akin to architecture than to the care of skin. In any event, according to this case, a masseuse does not need to be an expert in any other branches of "cosmetology."

DESTINY

No use to fret and be afraid and dread what is to be,
On us the burden has been laid —we face our destiny.
For all that was which lies before a thousand years away,
Happened precisely as it did to bring us to today.

We are the sum of all that's gone, behind us lies the past,
For this our fathers carried on, on us their faith was cast.
We are their future hopes and dreams, the reason they were brave,
And now we stand to save the things for which their strength they gave.

No use to whimper and complain; the task is ours to do!
We are the makers of the past our children shall review.
Because our fathers were, we are, and, just as they, shall we Pass down to children, yet unborn, the torch of liberty.

Hollywood Looks For Many Changes In Movie-Making As Direct Result Of War

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD.—It's going to be a different Hollywood as a result of the war.

In fact, the process of change has already begun and people of the film industry today are wondering just what is in store for their land of make believe.

All are aware that they will be called upon to make material contributions to the war effort. Under the heaviest taxes in the nation's history, large chunks of Hollywood's big incomes will go into the building of airplanes and tanks. Many stars face their lowest net incomes since they became top performers.

Not a few from Hollywood face the prospect of service in the Army or Navy. This is especially true of the technicians, and sound men, engineers and photographers. They are of particular value to the armed services. Film producers see the prospect of a shortage of this skilled labor that will handicap the making of pictures in the not too distant future.

However, there is confidence that a balance will be struck that will prevent the making of pictures from coming to a standstill. Quite aside from the patriotic shorts and the utilitarian training pictures for the armed forces and defense industries that Hollywood is making, there have been numerous indications that the government wants a steady flow of movies, for their beneficial effect on public morale.

For the most part it looks as though the stars will be deferred from the draft, on the theory that they will be of greater value on the outside, but as attested by the fact that Jimmy Stewart and Tony Martin are in the services, the rule is only a general one, apparently not to be applied in all cases.

Bob Hope, the screen's No. 1 benefit performer, indicates the role for those left in civilian life.

"We'll all have to pitch for the Red Cross, defense bonds and a thousand and one other things from now on," he declared. "It's the least we can do for our country."

No More Big Premieres

Big premieres, of which Hollywood is so fond, have become one of the minor casualties of war. There will be no more of them as long as blackouts are in style.

As for the effect the war will have on the trend of pictures, Hollywood wonders. C. B. De Mille thinks it will bring about a demand for more musicals, more comedies and more period pictures, such as his "Reap the Wild Wind." He is certain that modern war topics will be out, in that they will meet with little box-office response even if they are made, "for the duration."

MOVE TAX QUARTERS

Because of the crowd of taxpayers in the court house hall, the county commissioners on Thursday afternoon moved the personal property tax desk to court room number two.

With the desk in the corridor the taxpayers wishing to get assistance were practically breathing down each other's neck. There was no more privacy than a gold fish in the post office lobby and in addition women had to stand for long periods of time waiting their turn. As it is now they can be seated in comfort in the court room and the agents of the department of revenue will have more room to work.

George Demmy, agent who is in the court house representing the department, said today that some taxpayers have a problem with their bonds of belligerent nations. Bonds of Germany Italy and Japan are not uncommon and they have asked if they must be included in their personal tax return.

Quoting Walter F. Kress, acting secretary of revenue, Mr. Demmy said, "even though it is not possible to place a value on such holdings at the present time, they must be listed and the holders of these securities will be billed when the true value is ascertained at a later date."

NO PROFITEERING

We really should start a department of silly rumors while this war is on. The latest silly to come to light concerns County Controller Frank W. Hill. An out of the city newspaper called him and asked if it were true that the aluminum collected here last summer had been sold and the profits kept by individuals. They had the story straight from a junk dealer, who apparently carried a side line of silly rumors.

The truth about the aluminum is this. In September, 1941, upon the orders of T. J. Canturell, state procurement officer, the 20,461 pounds of aluminum which was stored in the old New Castle tin mill plant was shipped via Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to the National Bronze and Aluminum Foundry in Cleveland, O. About a day after the aluminum was shipped the plant in Cleveland burned down. What happened to the aluminum no one here knows.

At the present time there is approximately 1,000 pounds of scrap aluminum stored in the old tin mill awaiting orders from the state to be shipped. Nobody got anything out of the aluminum here except a lot of work and the rumor is checked off with the same term as most of the other silly dillies, "baloney."

Three Divisions Of German Subs Likely In Action

By JOHN HENRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Continuation of Germany's submarine campaign against American shipping today led experts on sea warfare to believe that three separate divisions of U-boats are operating along the Atlantic coast.

One of the units, according to the experts' theory, reaches its fields of operations while another group returns to its home base for refuelling and repairs. A third unit, meanwhile, is believed enroute to American coastal areas from ports friendly to the Axis.

This "round-robin" maneuver obviously would enable the Germans to keep a number of submersibles constantly in and near U. S. waters for an indefinite period of time.

Washington observers pointed out, in addition, that use of three divisions of the sub fleet would eliminate the necessity of using tankers to refuel the underwater vessels. If the submarines were unable to return home, a "mother ship," supplying them with ammunition, fuel and food, would be an important phase of any prolonged campaign in distant waters, it was pointed out.

In the absence of official reports that "mother ships" are accompanying the U-boats and based on the fact that the attacks on Allied boats off the Atlantic coast have been in progress for nearly two weeks brought experts to the conclusion that the Nazi naval command has devised the "round robin" system of operations.

The modern German submarine, according to persons familiar with Hitler's naval strength, is capable of cruising about 20,000 miles without refueling.

Operated with Diesel oil, the U-boats must head for home or engage in a tryst with a "mother ship" when their fuel nears the depletion point. The subs rarely are able to refuel from a captive ship, most of which do not carry the specified type of oil.

Believed to be about the size of America's old S-boats, the Nazi submersible is described in Washington as a vessel of about 700 or 800 tons. Experts said some of the U-boats carry almost a dozen torpedoes and a few mines, and yet have space for crews of nearly 40 men and supplies for three or four weeks at sea.

Chinese Planing Hatchet Burying

(International News Service)

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 30.—Butte's Chinese alley, whence in years gone by came the hatchet men to fight in tong wars about the nation, has buried the hatchet.

Hum Yow, Chinese leader, said today his people have forgotten their differences of the past and are concentrating on one objective—help to win the war against Japan. They are collecting and sending money to San Francisco, not to swell tong battle funds as formerly, but to buy planes, tanks and ammunition for use against the Nipponese.

They won't even take time out February 15 to celebrate Chinese new year, Hum Yow said.

New Castle, Ellwood, Wilmington and Pulaski—four out of the eight districts comprising the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, were 100 per cent in attendance and all of the districts were represented at the joint mid-year efficiency and children's conference which was held at Epworth Methodist church this city, Thursday, January 29 with afternoon and evening sessions.

Miss A. Myfanwy Roberts of Scranton, the state children's division superintendent, gave practical and inspiring messages at both sessions, and, in addition to her messages, a "Question Box" was conducted as well as conference and discussion groups. One practical demonstration that was given was films showing colored scenes of the best arranged primary department rooms and the right setting for constructive children's work.

The afternoon session had for its devotional leader, Rev. W. A. Thornton, pastor of the conference church The county president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., presided, assisted by New Castle District President, H. L. Marvin, and W. M. Armstrong, county vice president.

At 6 o'clock, the ladies of the Conference church served a conference fellowship turkey dinner. The leader, Mrs. T. M. Shaffer, and her assistants were given a hearty vote of thanks for the splendid meal served.

The opening devotions at the evening session were in charge of Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, minister of the First Baptist church of this city, and Mrs. Anna Pyle was organist.

A young peoples' report was given by Dr. T. J. McFate, Young People's superintendent of the New Castle district. This report was unanimously endorsed by the conference. The committee preparing report in addition to Dr. McFate, was J. Harold Vance, associate young people's superintendent of the county, and Rev. Oliver W Hurst.

The introduction of Miss Roberts was made at the evening session by Mrs. B. F. Johnson, county children's division superintendent.

The inspiration message delivered by Miss Roberts dwelt with the chief disciplines of life and gave the five chief motives for action as being, "Fear, reward, love, convention and faith". Miss Roberts stated that the two greatest of these motives as far as Christians and workers with children were concerned, were "love and faith."

Appreciation was expressed at the close of the session for the use of the church building and its facilities, for the splendid dinner, for the excellent messages, and all those who had a part in making the conference a most successful one.

Diphtheria immunity produced by inoculation is not always permanent and children immunized when very young should be examined about the time they enter school to see if they have retained their protection, according to the University of California medical experts.

First Candidate For Governor May Be Named Soon

New Guard Of G. O. P. May Act

Stalnecker Heads Movement Seeking To Unseat Present Party Leadership

DEMOCCRATS NOT UNITED ON NOMINEE

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.—Announcement of the first major candidacy for governor to be made in either political party will come "very shortly," perhaps within the next few days, when the New Guard faction of the Republican party presents its candidate.

P. Stephen Stahlnecker, campaign manager of the Independent Republican movement which seeks to unseat the present leadership of the state organization, indicated today that his group was prepared momentarily to enter the field.

Announcement Soon

The New Guard candidate has not yet been chosen, he stated, but the search for an anti-organization man to head the group's ticket in the May primary election has been narrowed to a point where an announcement may be expected "very shortly," he revealed.

Richard P. Brown ,of Philadelphia, former state secretary of commerce, has withdrawn from the New Guard, which he helped to organize, leaving as possible candidates Harmar D. Denny, Jr., of Pittsburgh, and William H. Harman, former president of the Associated Willkie Clubs of Pennsylvania, and Philadelphia industrialist. Brown, according to friends, is devoting all his time to the defense industry.

As yet the only candidates to enter the field have been two Independents, former Pittsburgh Mayor William N. McNair, Democrat, and Rep. Ivan C. Watkins, Schuylkill county Republican.

No Decision Yet

No decision has yet been reached on a Democratic party candidate or candidates and one is not looked for until possibly the last week in February. The Democratic state committee will meet in Harrisburg on the 27th. State Chairman Meredith Meyers has called a conference of party leaders for Harrisburg on February 14 to consider a candidate for governor and other state offices. U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey and National Committeeman David L. Lawrence, who head the two major factions within the party, are expected to attend.

The 25 to 30 leaders present will select a five-member committee to agree upon a candidate for governor. This committee will report back to the conference later in the day.

Two Conferences

If the conference approves the committe's choice, Meyers said he would hold two regional conferences, possibly on February 17 and 19, with county committeemen in an attempt to secure their support also. If this plan could be carried through to a successful conclusion, a possible intra-party fight would be avoided and a harmonious session of the state committee assured.

The Republican organization will probably make its choice for governor known at a conference of executive committee members and other party leaders to be held in Harrisburg in February, probably on the eve of the special session of the legislature.

Sentiment has not crystallized yet behind an organization candidate. The probability of Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, former commander of the 28th Division, being chosen, appears to have diminshed considerably, however, due to the general's expressed desire to continue with his present work. Retired from active army duty because of his age, he has been designated civilian coordinator for the Fifth Army Corps area, with headquarters at Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio. However, the general has not definitely said he would not be a candidate, if asked to run.

As for U. S. Sen. James J. Davis, there is a report that he will not definitely show his hand until February 28, the first day to circulate nominating petitions. Davis has been quietly campaigning for many months now, but seems wary of announcing his candidacy for the G. O. P. nomination for governor. It appears now that he intends to wait until he sees what opposition he will face.

Authorize 1,799 Auxiliary Boats

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. — The Senate on Thursday passed by a voice vote a bill authorizing construction of 1,799 auxiliary combat and patrol vessels and expenditure of $750,000,000 for ship building and ordnance facilities.

The chamber also approved by a voice vote a measure authorizing a $450,000,000 expenditure for naval shore establishments, public works and housing. Both measures go back to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments.

Finnish Folk Plan Red Cross Efforts

At the Finnish Lutheran church, South Ray street, this evening at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting of Finnish people in this community to make arrangements toward aiding the work of the local Red Cross chapter.

The congregation of the church has provided the church parlor for meetings and functions for the benefit of the Red Cross society.

There will be an election of officers and plans made for a working program.

Rev. E. W. Lehto, pastor of the church, will address the group.

This meeting was called after various groups and organizations had met and discussed the matter, and it was decided to unite and join hands in the common effort for this cause.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Alex Pikkarainen. All proceeds of this and other such functions will be turned over to the local chapter of the Red Cross.

TUNG OIL WIDELY USED

Tung oil, one of the most important oils in the manufacture of paints, enamels and varnishes, is also used for automobile brake bands, oilcloth and linoleum. MacArthur Should Worry About His Income Tax Report

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Jan. 30—Gen. Douglas MacArthur needn't worry about that unpaid income tax any more if, indeed, he has worried about it at all.

State's Attorney Harry Hall of Lake county said today he had read that the general, being rather busy showing the Japs how outnumbered American-Filipino forces can fight, hadn't paid his income tax yet.

Hall took immediate steps to remedy that situation, he said, by telegraphing Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau that he would guarantee the account.

ABOARD A MAN-O'-WAR WITH THE U .S. PAFICIC FLEET, Jan. 30.—The saving of human life is recognized as an act of heroism in the United States navy when it is accomplished in some manner beyond the normal call of duty.

But when it is within the so-called bounds of duty, it passes unnoticed, often almost ignored, although it may take exactly the same amount of skill and daring.

This article is to pay tribute to a hero in the latter category, and his skill and daring consisted only in the handling of the heavy cruiser from which this is being written. He is the captain, a good-looking well-built, blue-eyed man who has the complete loyalty and admiration of every officer and man aboard. In battle, this ship will deliver its maximum, with this skipper on the bridge.

All captains are presumed to be be able to handle their ships skillfully and they can, but this captain just happens to be outstanding, and then speaking of handling a ship, please get this picture: A heavy cruiser is no motor launch or row boat; it is about the length of the usual city block, displaces more than 10,000 tons, is cranky, obstinate, often ornery and is somewhat like handling a floating office building.

Neevrtheless, this captain has very recently put his big craft alongside two small and fragile craft in restless seas with amazing skill and accuracy and with the lives of several men in the balance.

On a destroyer a young officer was stricken with appendicitis. With no surgeon aboard, he had to be transferred to this cruiser, which carries a doctor and hospital facilities. The captain sent a small motor boat for him, but in getting away from the destroyer the engine on the small boat stalled and left it tossing helplessly on the waves. There was nothing to do except to put the cruiser alongside the little craft, despite the great danger of swamping or crushing it.

But the cruiser captain laid his giant fighting craft up against the little boat like a gentle caress. His accuracy and skill were perfect, no less, and to them all the men on the small boat owe their well being.

Not long thereafter one of the cruiser's planes was forced down at sea by motor trouble, and again the captain gentled his destructive giant to exactly the right place at the right instant.

But that's what he's supposed to do and this article probably is the only thanks he'll ever get.

Assail Wickard On Price Control

Charge Secretary Is Violating Spirit Of Price Control Bill

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Charging that Secretary of Agriculture Wickard is violating the spirit of the price control bill, senate leaders met today to demand a showdown on government policy in carrying out provisions of the far reaching regulatory measure.

Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., a senate "farm bloc" leader, charged Wickard's declaration in a speech at Atlanta, Ga., that he would try to mantain prices at parity, and his efforts to keep corn and feed prices at 85 per cent of parity, is in direct contradiction of the price control measure approved this week by congress.

The attitude of the "farm bloc" leaders, who won a bitter fight to give Wickard veto power over fixing of agriculture prices by Administrator Leon Henderson, consequently turned to one of wrath.

Committee Called

The senate agriculture committee was called into special session by Sen. Smith (D) S. C., chairman, as angry protests were made that Wickard "broke" the commodity markets through his action in trying to keep corn and feed prices at 85 per cent of parity. The price control measure, now awaiting President Roosevelt's signature to become effective, fixed farm prices at no lower than 110 per cent of parity.

"We want a showdown immediately," said Thomas. "We want to know whether the law, which provided that prices should not be fixed below 110 per cent of parity or the 1919-1929 average price level, is going to apply or whether somebody's idea will govern.

"The farmers in my state stand only for fair prices, but we can't live and pay our taxes on 85 per cent of parity under the present economy when there are no restrictions placed on wages."

Sen. Bankhead (D) Ala., who led the fight to give Wickard veto power over farm price fixing, said that Wickard had endorsed the 110 per cent parity "floor" in the price control bill.

"Of course it was understood, when the 110 per cent of parity figure was used, that an effort would be made to maintain prices at least at parity, and that there might be fluctuations under and above," said Bankhead.

"It seems incredible that Wickard would do anything to hold prices at 85 per cent of parity. That would be out of line with the whole program and in conflict with the spirit of the price control bill."

While some "farm bloc" members talked of seeking to block confirmation of Leon Henderson, who is expected to be named administrator of the new price control law, Sen. Thomas said that he saw no signs of a strong fight.

"Somebody's got to administer the law and Henderson must have learned a lot about price administration during the time that he has been exercising control through voluntary agreements," he said.

Inter-American Conference At End

By PERCY FORSTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 30—With the Inter-American conference at an end, only three American republics still maintained relations with the Axis powers, and indications were that before long the break would be complete.

The three countries in question were Ecuador, Argentina and Chile. Ecuador, however, was expected to break with Germany, Italy and Japan almost immediately. Argentina and Chile were expected to follow suit following the forthcoming national elections in these countries.

Meanwhile, the long-standing Ecuadorean-Peruvian border dispute which has disrupted relations between those countries for a century, finally was settled.

An agreement was signed, establishing a definite border and delegates said the new pact will be respected by both nations.

Brazil broke off all relations with the Axis nations, including economic ties, and the German, Italian and Japanese displomats in Rio de Janeiro were given their passports.

Announcement of this move by Brazilian Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha brought a burst of cheers from the conference.

The work of the conference drew warm praise from outstanding delegates who addressed the final session.

Aranha said its "great achievements can be properly understood only when time gives a perspective," but he added:

"However, we already state we have converted an utopa into reality. The ideals and dreams of our forebears already are being fulfilled . . .

"In only 50 years of Pan Americanism and in a single week of informal conversations, the American nations have written into history what the peoples of other continents have failed to achieve in 2,000 years."

The Cuban delegate, Fernandez Conchesa, described the conference as an example to the world of human brotherhood, and added:

"Severance of relations with the Axis powers which our peoples are now putting into effect is an unprecedented example of world diplomacy. It is magnificent proof that the 21 American republics react in exactly the same way and with the same determination in the face of a threat unprecedented in world history."

The American robin is not identical to the English robin, as many believe. The bird we commonly call robin is a true thrush. The English robin is a small bird, one-third the size of ours, and the two birds are superficially alike only in having a red breast.

Macassar Strait Losses Of Japanese Big Aid To Allies

(Editor's note: Field Marshal Lord Ironside, former chief of the imperial general staff, points out in the following article for International News Service today that the terrific destruction of Japanese ships in Macassar Strait shows what a resolute unified command means. Ironside also states that Japan now is in grave danger of over-extending her supply and communication lines.)

By FIELD MARSHAL LORD IRONSIDE
Written Expressly For International News Service

LONDON, Jan. 30.—News from the Far East is better today, although it is still extremely serious.

The Japanese have pushed out their expeditions from their homeland in an immense fan. The area covered is terrific. From the base of the fan in Japan to the nearest point in Borneo is 2,000 miles, and it is 4,000 miles along the edge of the fan from the Solomon Islands in the east to Moulmein, Burma, in the west.

The whole area is an intricate mass of islands and narrow straits—a battleground for airplanes, submarines and small ships, with the battle fleets of the combatants maneuvering in the open seas and covering operations inside.

Japan was able to take us by surprise when she first attacked and was able to establish landings with little opposition.

Thirty Ships Lost

But the practical destruction of 30 ships out of a convoy in the Macassar Straits, evidently a force on its way to make a fresh landing, by United States and Dutch planes, and United States ships, shows what can be done against large expeditions in these narrow waters.

It also shows what a resolute unified command means.

But Japan has to maintain widespread forces. She has been successful in pushing back gallant United States forces in the Philippines into Battan peninsula, and she is still battering at Singapore.

Her shipping commitments are large and will become greater despite the fact that she has established bases in Indo-China and Thailand. From these she can undoubtedly supply much of the food required by her forces but war materials—tanks, guns and ammunition—must come from the main base in Japan.

They will probably be sent in small ships, not easy to catch and destroy. It is these lifelines that we are now attacking with our naval and air forces as they gather strength on our edge of the fan—in Australia, Sumatra, Japa and Burma.

Our land forces are holding on desperately and are being steadily reinforced. They have already given us much valuable time and will give us more.

At Singapore the enemy is almost up agianst our close defenses and his advance has been slowed down.

News Heartening

In Russia the news is heartening. The weather has been more severe but the red army has continued to press its advances. The magnificent thrust east and south of Leningrad which has taken the Russians to Kholm and Toropets has brought them within a few miles of the great north-south line from Leningrad to the Ukraine.

At Solkolinki and Veliki Luki it has endangered the position of the German troops investing Leningrad with their difficult route to the west, on both sides of Lake Peipus. It has made a great pincers to the north of Smolensk, with a southern pincers now past Kirov to Yelnya.

The fate of the Smolensk salient seems almost sealed. With the north-south line cut, the Germans will find it more and more difficult to reinforce their long defense line against each Russian thrust, and there is a new thrust just launched in the south about which we have few details.

At Orel, Kursk and Kharkov, the German line is wavering despite reinforcements and desperate fighting. There can be little rest for the German units which were withdrawn for the spring offensive, for if they are not already in the front lines, they must be working hard on defensive measures behind the front lines.

And there are still two months of winter to come!

The safe crossing of the first unit of the United States army to northern Ireland heartened everybody. Not only does it show once more the situation in the Atlantic is under control, but it strengthens our positions in the British Isles against any possible springtime invasion.

It is the beginning of the building up of a great combined defensive force which will surely come into action when the time is ripe.

Meanwhile, United States bombers are adding fuel to that air offensive against Germany which never ceases, day after day.

Says Hawaii Will Be Held

Admiral Nimitz Asserts U. S. Will Hold Islands Against Any Attack

ARMY AND NAVY ARE COOPEATING

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HONOLULU, Jan. 30.—Close relationship between the army and navy forces defending Hawaii and confidence in their ability to hold the islands against any attack were stressed today by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, and Lieutenant-General Delos C. Emmons, commander of the army garrison.

Admiral Nimitz and General Emmons met for a discussion of the new arrangement which places the admiral in supreme command of all military forces in the Hawaiian area.

"We have every expectation of holding these islands," Admiral Nimitz declared.

"I subscribe to that," General Emmons interjected. "It is well expressed."

The admiral emphasized that he and General Emmons are cooperating closely. Holding up two fingers, he remarked:

"We're close as that."

"So far as we know," Admiral Nimitz continued, "enemy action in the Hawaiian area since December 7 has been confined to submarines, and our efforts to suppress them have been satisfactory.

"Any successes they may have obtained have been at disproportionate cost to the enemy.

"Measures are now in effect with the material available to prevent surprise attacks on Oahu in the future so far as is humanly possible."

Asked whether his opinion of the Japanese naval forces increased or decreased since the start of hostilities, Admiral Nimitz replied:

"I never under-estimated the effectiveness of the Japanese navy or personnel."

General Emmons disclosed that a plan soon will be announced for evacuating civilians from Hawaii to the mainland, with the order of priority dependent upon transportation facilities.

He added than an answer to pleas to lift Hawaii's war-time ban on liquor will be announced in a few days and that this matter is now under serious consideration.

Concluding the interview, Admiral Nimitz said the unity of command in Hawaii did not result from the report of the Roberts committee, but actually was in effect before the committee arrived in Honolulu late in December.

President Signs Defense Measure

Appropriation Bill Signed Today Carries Sum Of $12,555,000,000

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt today signed a $12,555,000,000 appropriation bill for national defense.

Major items in the supply bill are $9,000,000,000 for the air corps and $4,000,000,000 for lend-lease activities.

Construction of the Douglas dam hydro electric project on the French broad river in Tennessee at a cost of $30,000,000 also is included.

PRESIDENT IS 60 YEARS OLD

day monumental decisions upon which hinge the future peace and security of the united nations.

Two interludes alone set the White House day aside from other days of long, hard working hours. A group of Hollywood's brilliant stars, here to appear with Mrs Roosevelt at a succession of tonight's birthday balls, were lunching with the Roosevelts. This evening, as is the president's annual custom, he will entertain the "cuff links gang" at dinner.

This latter group had its genesis among the men and women who worked with and for him in the 1920 campaign when Mr. Roosevelt ran unsuccessfully for the vice presidency, and a few additional tried and true friends have been added to today's party. If the usual routine is followed, the dinner will be interspersed with stunts and a round of mutual kidding, details of which do not become public.

In Top Form

Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the navy and White House physician, said the president, at 60, was in top form.

"He is in fine physhical shape," Admiral McIntire declared. "He is close to his best working weight of 188 pounds, and in condition to continue on the alert."

During the first bruising days after Pearl Harbor, those in constant contact with Mr. Roosevelt worried over his ability to keep up the gruelling pace which was then set. Those worries have disappeared. The president has adjusted himself to the herculean job of leading the country through the second world war and is bearing the strain far better than many in less important positions. His sense of humor has been unimpaired ,and the famous smile is still as much in evidence as ever.

Those around the president are constantly amazed at his ability to "bounce back." At the end of some particularly hard days, he has looked drawn and tired, but invariably the following morning a night's sleep has erased all evidence of the previous day's grind.

The year behind Mr. Roosevelt is studded with some of the outstanding milestones in all history, and it brought to him also a great personal loss, the death of his mother.

But the closing days of that year, tragic as they were, brought the American peole together behind the president in a unity such as the country has seldom experienced.

Nazis Are Seizing Food Intended For Occupied France

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—American foodstuffs intended for the children of unoccupied France in some instances have been diverted to Nazi Germany, official reports revealed today.

Food has been sent to Vichy for distribution among the hard-pressed French population, a government official said, but unfortunately the humanitarian effort did not work out entirely satisfactorily.

In one instance, involving a rather large shipment, the food was put on a train headed for another portion of unoccupied France—but the train kept right on going into Germany.

Basile Is Awarded Music Certificate

Anthony Basile, 1018 South Mill street, a band leader and musical instructor for the past 25 years and currently teaching music at North Star school in Frisco, outskirts of Ellwood City, has received a certificate to teach music in any of Pennsylvania's high schools.

Mr. Basile attended summer sessions at Geneva college and at Penn State to attain the prescribed credits.

Mr Basile's name has been synonymous with music in New Castle. Many local young men in the musical world are proteges of the well known south side resident. Mr. Basile, among other things, has directed the South Side Board of Trade and Sons of Italy bands and has also been a member of the Red Coat band, one of the leading musical organizations in western Pennsylvania.

ENEMY FORCES ONLY 18 MILES FROM SINGAPORE

Singapore today, and the large formatons of Jap planes dropped bombs during the second alert.

The communique also told of "considerable" Japanese air activity against British forward positions and communications on the Malayan battle front.

On the eastern sector of the Johore front, the communique said, the situation remained unchanged. It added that 1,000 British troops cut off in the Batu Pahat (western) region had succeeded in rejoining the main body of the Imperial force.

"In the center the enemy was contacted about Kulai. There was heavy fighting yesterday in the Sedenak area (about 24 miles north of Singapore.)

"On the western sector there was some fighting in the Pontain Besar area. A further thousand of our troops who were cut off in the Batu Pahat area have now rejoined the main body.

"Enemy air raids in the past 24 hours on the Singapore area have increased in scale. There has been some damage.

"Two enemy planes were shot down yesterday and during today's raids one enemy fighter was destroyed and several others were severely damaged."

Three Aid Attacks

Enemy bombers unloaded their cargoes on Singapore Island in three separate attacks last night, but no official estimate of casualties or damage was released immediately.

During the night, Sngapore suffered three new raids. These attacks plus revelation that the central Jap spearhead is only 18 miles away brought redoubled efforts to prepare Singapore for a last-ditch siege.

The night raiders jettisoned their bombs on residential areas of the city during the night and early morning hours.

Meanwhile, authorities ordered a curfew in Singapore effective every night hereafter from 9 p. m. to 5 a. m. to forestall activities of night marauders, fifth columnists and other disturbing elements "likely to become active in the present time of tension."

The curfew order will not apply during air raid alarms.

Some airplanes require 50,000 feet of electric wiring, according to the department of commerce.

Orders Parasites Out Of Capital

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt today called upon the "parasites"—of which he said there are a great many—to get out of Washington and make room for war workers.

Faced with a distinct housing problem as literally thousands of government war workers pour into the nation's capital, the President suggested that local newspapers run a headline:

"Are You a Parasite?"

The Chief Executive said he was talking about those who live here solely because they like the social life, or because they want to send their children to school here. He said he meant those who occupy 20-room houses on fashionable Massachusetts avenue.

Fire Damages Unit Of Armory

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 30.—Fire, started by the accidental overturning of a smudge pot, today ruined the unoccupied new three-story $432,000 Field Service building at Springfield armory.

Production at the main section of the armory, across the street, was not halted and the workers remained at their machines.

Uncle Sam's Sea Warriors Healthy

Few Men Are Sick On Heavy Cruiser In Service In Pacific

PREVENTIVE STEPS ALWAYS TAKEN

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD A MAN-O'-WAR WITH THE U. S. PACIFIC FLEET, Jan. 30.—Taking this heavy cruiser as a fair example, Uncle Sam's sea warriors in this part of the warring world are an amazingly healthy lot.

And this, incidentally, under very trying conditions—conditions that usually would indicate a hign rate of sickness. For this ship is jammed with officers and men beyond her normal complement and for very good reasons everything is battened down at night, leaving the quarters below hot and close.

Wondering how much the sickness rate had gone up during war time operations, this correspondent asked the ship's doctor to conduct a tour through the sick bay.

Sick Bay Empty

Astonishingly, the sick bay was empty. Why? the doctor was asked.

"Frankly," he said, "I don't know. I expected a sharp increase, especially in respiratory diseases, but there hasn't been any. The ship's health was never better."

A little inquiry developed that the answer, at least in part, is the doctor himself and the untiring devotion which he and his staff give their job.

For one thing, they practice real preventive medicine. All men on the ship are under orders to report at once to the sick bay at the first signs of a cold, or any illness. They are not to circulate among their mates. They are put to bed and kept there until they have fully recovered.

Then there is the careful handling of food. Cooks and mess attendants are checked daily and all dishes and cooking utensils are sterilized after each meal. There's no rushing a dishwashing job either. The dishes can't be extracted from the machine until they are properly sterilized.

Immediate Aid

From now on this story may not be pleasant, but it details some important facts in connection with a fighting ship out looking for a fight. These have to do with the care of wounded men. This ship is a model in that respect and the speed with which adequate medical attention can be brought to the fallen means the difference between dozens of men going to wattery graves or living to fight another day.

On this ship aid is brought immediately to the man. He does not have to be carried to the aid, and that's vital for the loss of a few minutes is often the margin between life and death and improper moving of a wounded man may prove fatal.

Wherever he may fall, there will be trained medical corps personnel at hand with sufficient equipment. The doctor has provided for that, as well as four emergency operating spaces in various parts of the ship so that one won't stop the surgeons. First aid cabinets are on every hand. Even the lights over the operating tables are specially shock-proofed and connected with several different electric currents. There are also big flashlights, and every conceivable serum and healing agent, including a lately perfected powder which the doctor calls a miracle. It is for burns and its results indicate that burns will not take the horrible toll in the future in sea battles that they have in the past.

Incidentally, the navy handles appendicitis and hernia cases in a manner that will astonish many civilian surgeons. With long practice in this type of surgery, navy doctors have their appendicitis patients on their feet and walking within 24 hours after the operation.

Oil Tanker Cut In Two By Axis Submarine Fire

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Two torpedoes from an enemy submarine cut an oil tanker squarely in half, according to word brought into port Thursday by the crew of a fishing vessel which had rescued 28 Norwegian survivors of the tanker and took them into a Canadian port.

The torpedoing, which occurred early on the morning of January 23, previously had been reported from Canada.

When the Canadian authorities went out to destroy the severed tanker they found it empty, leading to the opinion by the fishermen that the submarine had refueled from its victim.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 23
INCOME CONSTRUCTIVELY RECEIVED

Income which becomes the property of a person during the taxable year should be included in his gross income even though he does not have physical possession of it. This occurs where income is unconditionally credited to his account or set apart subject to his order at any time, and such income is said to have been constructively received.

If, under an agreement, a taxpayer's debt is paid for his benefit by another, the effect is the same as if the money had been paid to the taxpayer and he had transmitted it to his creditor. It often happens that a taxpayer who owns property agrees that the income from such property shall be paid to a third party, or he may contract to perform services for a sceond party, and it is agreed that the compensation shall be paid to a third party. In each case the amount paid to the third party at the taxpayer's order is taxable to the taxpayer as constructive received income.

Where interest coupons have matured and are payable, such interest, though not yet collected is to be included in gross income of the owner of the coupons for the year during which the coupons mature, unless it can be shown that there are no funds available for payment of the interest during that year.

Interest credited on a savings bank deposit is income to the depositor when credited. Interest or dividends credited unconditionally to shareholders of a building and loan association are taxable income of the shareholder for the year of the credit. If, however, the amount of such credits cannot be drawn by the shareholder until the maturity of the share in a future year, then it is not income to him during the year of the credit.

Income received for a taxpayer by his agent, such as rental payments, is taxable income to the taxpayer for the year of its receipt by the agent.

LOSING AIR IN TIRES

Tires lose air five times faster on a hot day than at freezing temperatures, due to stretching of the fine pores of the inner tube, according to the American Motorist.

Butter for sandwiches will spread easily if softened with back of spoon and blended with a little cream.

Sulfadiazine Has Proved Success Treating Burns

Medical Men Hail Effectiveness Of New Treatment After Seeing It Put To Test In Hawaii

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HONOLULU, Jan. 30.—A new treatment for burns, called sulfadiazine, is today regarded with high favor by medical men in Honolulu as a result of their experience in caring for the injured following the savage Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7.

In the sulfadiazine treatment of more than 300 burn cases mortality was held to practically zero, according to Dr. F. J. Halford, director of the burn and shock teams of the Honolulu major disaster council.

Sulfadiazine is sprayed on the burned areas with a sterile gun. In the treatment of Honolulu victims of the Jap attack it was used together with infusions of blood plasma.

Dr. Halford said the results were "startling and gratifying." He personally handled many of the cases.

Another Fluid Used

Another important aspect of the new treatment is the use of adrenal cortex, a fluid made from adrenal glands.

Dr. Halford explained that plasma and this adrenal cortex in combination acts as blood vessel cement, joining the vessel walls and preventing the plasma from oozing into the burn and other tissues.

The sulfadiazine gives immediate relief from the severe pain of burns and, except in extreme cases, has the effect not only of saving the life of the patient but enabling him to recover much more quickly than when other methods were employed.

In first degree burns, sulfadiazine is sprayed on without cleansing the burned areas. In second and third degree burns, however, it is necessary to treat the patient as a surgical case. The burned area must be cleaned with soap and water, dried thoroughly, then sprayed with sulfadiazine every hour the first 24 hours, every two hours the second 24 hours and the treatment gradually lessened thereafter.

Prevents Infection

Dr. Halford said that many patients who used to recover from second and third degree burns died from infection.

But the new technique mitigates against the possibility of infection because the attending physician can watch through the transparent coating of the spray for the first sign of infection. He is enabled to reinforce the critically burned patient with sulfadiazine by mouth and sodium sulphur intravenously.

The sulfadiazine spray was discovered by the Lederle Laboratories in New York City.

Dr. Halford said that another important advantage of the new treatment is that skin grafting may be accomplished within 10 to 12 days after burning or scalding. As a result convalescence is often shortened from a matter of months to weeks.

Study Blood Plasma

Medical men in Hawaii foresee the possibility of another dire emergency in this American outpost in the Pacific. Consequently, laboratory groups are working in close cooperation with Honolulu's burn and shock teams to determine how much blood plasma would be needed in the event of another Jap attack. Physicians regard blood plasma as a great lifesaver. The average burn case requires from one to two quarts of plasma.

Men and women of Honolulu are being urged to be typed at the blood bank and give plasma. It is estimated by Dr. Halford that should incendiary bombs be dropped in the Honolulu area between 10,000 and 20,000 quarts of plasma would be needed for Honolulu alone.

Official Yacht Used By McKinley Will Be Scrapped

(International News Service)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.—The official yacht of Presidents McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt will be scrapped for its metal. It is the 48-year-old U.S.S. Hawk, which was built in Great Britain for the Duke of Connaught, brother of King George V.

Mark Hanna, the political leader, bought the yacht after it made a record crossing of the Atlantic, and sold it to the government at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. Later it became the presidential yacht.

During World War I, the Hawk operated as a tug. Since 1926, it has been used as a training vessel for the Naval Reserve. The powerful 1,000-horsepower steam engine is in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

Believes Allies May Win War Before 1942 Ends

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Captain Arthur Marsden, baldish veteran of World War I, and a member of the British House of Parliament, believes that an Allied victory in the war may come as early as next autumn.

Capt. Marsden, who is in the United States on a special mission, said here that he believed the first break will come in Germany, possibly as a general disagreement between the German army and the Nazis.

He also expressed belief that the tide in the Pacific battle front between the United States and Japan will make a sharp turn in favor of America as soon as the Japs get over their opening momentum and the United States fully recovers from the surprise attacks on Pearl Harbor.

Capt. Marsden is serving as both a naval officer and a member of parliament during the war crisis.

Tax Collection Change Is Made

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Jan. 30.—Mercer county residents will not have to wait until fall, this year, to pay local taxes, according to an announcement today by the county commissioners.

The commissioners said tax duplicates will be made available to local collectors in early spring, instead of in August and September as in previous years.

The new system is expected to provide the county with sufficient current tax revenue to eliminate the necessity of the past of borrowing funds during the middle of the year for operating expenses, the commissioners said.

MILK IMPORTANT IN WAR PROGRAM.

Dairymen are being asked to increase their milk production to meet the increased demands for food in this country and to supply the needs of other nations resisting aggression.

Where there is a market for extra milk Pennsylvania dairymen will do well to make their cows "hit on all four" by feeding generously of both roughage and grain. They should also plan for a pasture and feeding program next spring and summer that will maintain production.

Undue expansion is not necessary but every effort should be made to have cows produce up to their normal inherited ability. Many cows in Pennsylvania are underfed. It always pays to feed milk cows well and increased feeding of underfed cows is the quickest and most economical way to increase production and get the extra milk that our country needs. A grain mixture sufficiently high in protein and plenty of water are necessary in this feeding program.

CONSERVE CLOTHING.

"I will buy carefully.

"I will take good care of the things I have.

"I will waste nothing."

To date, nearly a million persons have indicated their support of this Consumer's Pledge for Total Defense sent out by the Consumer Division of the Office of Price Administration. Thus, have they shown their willingness to help in the total defense of democracy by conserving everyday civilian supplies, such as clothing, food, house furnishings, and equipment.

"When it comes to clothing, the three-point consumer pledge coincides with the fundamentals of wise wardrobe planning, says Ruth O'Brien, chief of the Division of Textiles and Clothing, Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

"When clothing purchases are well planned and each garment bought carefully, a wardrobe is bound to be better assembled than when clothing is purchased haphazardly, with no thought to checking points of quality". With many kinds of clothing and textiles becoming limited because of the National Defense program, there is more need today than ever to buy clothes that live'—substantial materials, classically simple lines, basic colors, reminds Miss Boneita Gordon, Home Economics Extension Representative of Lawrence County. When clothing must last longer than usual, it's best to avoid novelties that are doomed in a season or less.

The first step in taking care of clothing intelligently is knowing what the fabric is made of. Methods of cleaning, pressing, removing spots, and storing vary according to the fibers in a garment.

It will help also in taking intelligent care of clothing if you know whether the color in a material is fast to light and to washing, whether and how much the garment is likely to shrink, and what special finishes, if any have been applied to the material. Best place to find out about these points is at the store when you are buying—from labels, clerks, and store buyers.

WASH WOOL CAREFULLY.

A wool garment needs to be handled with special care when it is damp. Rough handling, harsh soap, sudden extremes of temperature while wool is wet cause the little scales on the surface of the wool fibers to lock into each other. This locking or "felting" results in shrinkage—makes wool "boardy." When a wool material becomes boardy, there's not much that can be done to restore it. If you try to stretch the garment back to its original shape and size after it has "felted," the fibers break into short pieces, which soon work out and weaken the cloth.

The right way to wash wool is to use warm, soft water and mild soap. Squeeze suds through cloth—don't rub. Dry in a warm place, but not near a fire or in direct sunlight. Stretch knit garments into shape while they are damp and lay them out flat to dry. Press other wool garments while they are still damp with a medium-hot iron and a pressing cloth.

Watch the iron when you press rayon.

Some rayons are not washable at all—have to be dry cleaned.

For washable rayons, use heavy lukewarm suds of neutral soaps. Do not rub. And since some types of rayon are weaker when they are wet, handle them with particular care. Rinse in water the same temperature as the wash water to prevent shrinkage.

Dry on a clothes hanger or roll in a Turkish towel. Use a moderately warm iron. And for acetate rayon keep the temperature of the iron even lower. It's a good idea to try the temperature of the iron first on the back part of a hem or on a seam to see if it is so hot it will melt the fabric.

Rayons that are washed are likely to give more trouble in fraying and seam pulling than those that are dry cleaned. As a guard against this, look for wide seams with well-finished edges. If a garment doesn't have these, go over the seams yourself—over cast or self-stitch the seam edges. Self-stitching is merely turning the raw seam edge over once then machine stitching it.

NORMAL WATER TEMPERATURE STEADIES WINTER EGG YIELD.

Eggs—lots of eggs— are needed during our present national emergency. One of the easiest, cheapest and most practical things to do to keep the laying flocks laying is to keep a drinkable supply of water in front of the layers at all times.

Winter is not the normal season of the year for hens to lay. Among the many seemingly small details which contribute to more efficient production this time of year is water of normal temperature to drink during cold weather. Hens must drink plenty of water if they are to lay at a high rate, since eggs are than 65 per cent water. In addition, hens will not eat as much feed as they should unless they are drinking an adequate amount of water.

Normal spring and well water temperatures, 50 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit, are best suited for layers. Birds do not like water if it is too warm, and they also drink less when it approaches the ice water stage.

A practical method of heating water is the use of an automatic electric water warmer. Most warmers of this type require approximately one kilowatt hour of electricity per layer each season. Another method is the use of a drinking fountain that is equipped with an oil lamp. In small flocks, warm water may be added to the drinking water several times daily to keep it from freezing. Many poultrymen use kitchen sinks for waterers and a box can be built around the sides and bottom. A 25-watt electric light bulb placed in this box will usually keep the water at a favorable temperature.

Egg production needs to be raised so that there will be more eggs for the equipment, feed, labor, and birds used. The average production per bird in Pennsylvania is approximately 100 eggs a year. A well kept flock can average 160 eggs or more over a 12 month period. Every hen in the state should be given an opportunity to do her best and more hens would produce more eggs if given a chance.

FARM HORSE SEEN AS A SOURCE OF POWER.

For many years "Old Dobbin" has been forced into a minor role in Pennsylvania farm drama. With the rush of production in all lines of business the horse is again being called into the picture. Horse power combined with motive power makes a good set-up used on many farms.

With the call for greater production and the curtailment of power machines, horse and mule power and horse production will be accelerated. Some horses are being purchased for army use. Many foresighted farmers are seeing that this and the curtailing of steel for motive power will mean the greater use of horses for their farm power. Prices for good farm horses are on the up grade. Farmers with extra horses for sale should realize their value. They should not sell at an unreasonably low price to speculators who soon may be appearing.

Pennsylvania has never produced enough horses to care for the replacements. Farmers still rely on horse power as evidenced by the hundreds shipped into the state each year. Few people realize that farmers have as much money invested in horses and mules as any other class of livestock except milk cows. Most of our Pennsylvania farms are small (the average for state is 89 acres). There are well adapted to be worked by horse units.

Farmers are realizing that economy must be practiced by more efficient use of the horse and man. To that end many are using horse power in the form of the multiple hitch. This hitch is valuable to the man who is short of helpers. It is a labor saving principle whereby any sized team of three to six horses may be driven by one man with one pair of lines. These hitches make it possible for one man to double or triple the work done with one or two horses. It means faster work and the use of less hired help. The horse power used can be produced on the farm and the fuel is also farm produced. Horse power costs are largely non-cash costs.

Cottons

The sensible way to clean most cottons is to wash them. Colored cottons need to be fast to washing and to sunlight if they are to be satisfactory for very long. And cottons should not shrink more than 2 per cent in order to retain the fit of a garment. Look for definite facts about both these points on labels or on the bolt ends of yard goods.

If cottons are not labeled color fast to washing, they'll probably need special laundering attention. Not only are they likely ot fade, but if washed in the same water with other clothes they're likely to "bleed" onto other garments. Handle non-color fast cottons as quickly as possible in the laundry. Wash them in warm water. Never soak them. Dry them quickly.

Textile experts say there's nothing to the old custom of soaking materials in a solution of salt and water to set the color. It doesn't work; it is a waste of salt; and it is likely to soak out some of the color.

Stitch In Time

In many a modern home, women are re-learning the almost lost arts of patching, darning and mending.

The secret of patching and darning successfully is to reproduce the original as nearly as possible. A darn should be smooth—the same color and weave as the rest of the garment. A patch should be matched perfectly—done smoothly and securely.

Necessary materials for patching and darning are different sizes of fine needles and a variety of colors and sizes of threads in the sewing basket. Save all scraps of materials left over when you make clothes at home—or when you have ready-mades altered. These scraps may be used for making patches—or they may be raveled out to give threads that match for re-weaving.

A tiny hole may make a garment virtually useless. But if this hole is carefully rewoven, it can be invisible.

Professional establishments that do this work usually ravel out yarns from material—consider all the colors in the pattern of the goods—study the weave so they can reproduce it exactly—and work with an infinite amount of patience, using a magnifying glass. Any homemaker who has the same patience can do the re-weaving herself.

A type of protective darning that can extend the life of a garment may be done by raveling out yarns from an extra piece of material—then working these into thin spots—as at the elbow.

GOOD TOOLS NECESSARY TO REPAIR MACHINERY.

You can't repair your farm implements with a set of "knuckle busters"—wrenches that slip, chisels that break and the like.

The life of a cheap tool is short while those of good quality give long and satisfactory service.

Probably the best guide of quality is price. Tools may be grouped roughly into high, medium, and low price classes. Most stores carry the medium and low priced tools in their stocks.

Now, what tools are needed? First, collect all the tools on the farm. Inspect each one. Then discard the tools in poor condition or of inferior quality. Get a "Suggested List of Tools for General Machinery Repair" from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle. Check this list. Then you can purchase the tools you do not have.

It is important to keep the tools in place and in good condition. Hang those most frequently used on the wall on nails or screw hooks. After hanging, mark around each tool with a pencil and fill it ith black paint. This saves time in replacing and readily shows the one missing. Other tools which cannot be hung or are not used can be stored on shelves or in a wall tool cabinet.

ST. MARY'S SODALITY

A short meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock by the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Mary's church in the basement of the church, with prefect Patricia Maher in charge.

Although the word "chrysanthemum" means golden flower, horticulturists have given this blossom to the world in many colors. The chrysanthemum lends itself readily to experiment because it yields so easily toward new varieties and new shades.

DING! DONG!
Theodore-Stevens Enriched Bread Is Done

No wonder the bakers stand around and admire it. It's a real achievement and they have a right to be proud of it. But it's not an unusual one at Theodore-Stevens' Bakery. It's the kind of bread turned out here every day. Each loaf, a work of art, the ingredients mixed together with the same care given to a painting or any other masterpiece. And after school it's not surprising to find the youngsters running home for their daily treat. White or rye broad loaf, 10c.

Eden Is Favored To Succeed Churchill In An Emergency

Poll Indicates Foreign Minister Has Maintained His Popularity With The British Public

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Should anything happen to Premier Winston Churchill, fifty per cent of the British people would prefer to have Foreign Minister Anthony Eden as his successor, according to a recent poll.

Fourteen per cent would want Lord Beaverbrook, while only nine per cent of the people appear to favor Ernest Bevin as Prime Minister.

Of the cross-section of the public polled, each 100 reacted as follows:

Anthony Eden, 50 votes.
Lord Beaverbrook, 14 votes.
Ernest Bevin, nine votes.
Clement Attlee, four votes.

Herbert Morrison, Emmanuel Shinwell, David Lloyd George, Sir Stafford Cripps, Leslie Hore-Belisha, Sir Archibald Sinclair, Lord Halifax, A. V. Alexander, Douglas Pritt, Alfred Duff Cooper—one or two votes each.

Felt Churchill Irreplaceable

Four out of every one hundred people polled felt there was nobody who could succeed Churchill.

The poll showed that handsome Anthony Eden has more than maintained his popularity with the public, despite the fact he makes very few public appearances, and is overshadowed by the perfect oratory and vigor of his chief.

A surprising feature of the poll was that Sir John Anderson, touted in the best circles as the strong man who will inevitably succeed Churchill when the time comes, did not appear in the voting.

Although his name is closely identified with the war effort, if only because of the fact he gave his name to the "Anderson" air raid shelters during his term of office as Minister of Home Security, very few members of the public appear to see in him a strong man successor to Churchill.

California Has Its Counterpart Of Paul Revere

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Phil Davis, a resident of the remote Turlare county town of Three Rivers is being hailed there as a modern Paul Revere as a result of his activities in organizing a local defense organization.

When Phil heard about the Japanese attack on Hawaii, he set out to round up the neighbors. It was quite a chore, as that particular part of the country is noted for its wide open spaces rather than for its density of population.

Phil was able to round up some of his friends by automobile but to reach others he had to go on horseback and foot. He resorted to both methods. Then, too, he summoned a few by telephone. In all he succeeded in rousing some 46 residents of the community.

Inspired by Phil's vivid account of what was taking place the group met in the community hall, put Davis at the head of their organization, and are marking time until they can hear from National Defense Headquarters telling them how they can help.

To Collect Scrap Iron In Mercer County At Once

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Jan. 30.—The Mercer county agricultural conservation committee will act as sponsor of a campaign to collect scrap iron on farms of the county which will be sold for use in national defense work, it was announced today by Chairman M. B. Orr.

Orr said the committee will advertise for bids for the collection of junk, including worn out farm machinery, and that farmers will be asked to cooperate by taking their junk to various collection centers.

Plans for the campaign have been made by a committee composed of Mr. Orr, chairman; C. G. Moyer, federal farm security supervisor; C. H. Waha, farm agent; A. C. Sproat, agricultural vocation supervisor; Desil Morrison, Joint Land Bank representative; Lansing Wood and C. L. Pfiefer.

Give Good Books For Service Men

Contributions Coming To City And County Collection Centers For VBC

With the theme song of the Victory Book Campaign to collect books for the service men as "Give Books You'd Like to Keep", this means only the best books—the kind they want to read. No attic discards for this generation of fighting men

East, west, north, south, all over the United States the V.B.C. is asking for books for the men in our army, navy and merchant marine. And getting them, too!

Books are steadily coming into the New Castle Free Public Library, singly, by twos and threes, and by the dozen. Tables in a basement room of the library are stacked high with them, some ready to be shipped, some to be sorted.

To the question, "I have my books ready—what do I do with them now", the answer is to take or send them to the public library, or a library branch. Or since the city schools are collection centers, have your children take the books you want to contribute to school. Or a phone call to 2103 will bring a Boy Scout for your books.

Out in the townships, the Shenango township school, Union township school, and Mahoning township school are serving as collection centers.

New Wilmington residents may conveniently turn their gifts of books in at the Westminster College library. Bessemer high school and the Wampum borough schools are taking in the contributions of Bessemer and Wampum residents.

Legislature May Meet February 23

Governor James Indicates Call May Be Made For That Time

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30—Gov. Arthur H. James indicated Thursday that he may ask the legislature to meet in special session on February 23.

"The legislature could meet every day and pass the congressional reapportionment measure before the 18th," he said. February 28 is regarded as the deadline for passage of the redistricting measure reducing the number of congressmen to be elected this fall in Pennsylvania from 34 to 33 as under the law nominating petitions may be circulated on that day. Five days is the minimum length of time in which legislation can be enacted.

The governor reiterated that the special session was contingent upon his receiving from the legislative committee on congressional reapportionment " a plan we can stand upon."

The governor confirmed that he had discussed the matter with the committee's co-chairmen, Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R) Dauphin and Rep Leo A. Achterman (D) Monroe, following which it was disclosed a meeting of the committee would be held next Wednesday. It was indicated that a final agreement on a special session might be reached late next week.

SHIFTING GEARS

Much strain on motor and other parts of the car can be avoided if the driver will shift gears before the motor begins to slow down on a grade, according to the California State Automobile association. It is safer to shift before losing too much momentum because, if anything should go wrong, such as jammed gears, there is more time to correct the situation before the car comes to a stop.

How to make Pillsbury's Southern Butter-Pecan Pie
Your husband's favorite (from now on)

Complete recipe:

1. Sift and measure 1 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour; add ½ tsp. baking powder (optional) and ½ tsp. salt; sift together. (Two B-vitamins and iron now enrich Pillsbury's Best. This enrichment adds to the health value but in no way affects the fine baking quality, flavor, and appetizing appearance of Pillsbury's Best.) 2. Cut in ¼ c. shortening until size of small peas. 3. Add 2 to 3 Tbsps. cold water gradually until dough is moist enough to hold together. Chill. 4. Roll out to about ⅛-in. thickness. (Feel how tender your dough is! Yet it rolls easily and smoothly, a sure sign of the crisp, flaky pie crust to be. The choice selection of wheats, and the painstaking care used in milling, help give you perfect baking results when you work with Pillsbury's Best Flour). Fold pastry over, place loosely in 9-in. pie pan; flute edge. 5. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 min. (The tender flakiness of Pillsbury's pie crust is a credit to your judgment in choosing Pillsbury's Best, the BAKE-PROVED flour. Every single hour during milling, samples are tested for creamy, uniform color . . . and 4 to 6 times a day actual baking tests are made. That's why Pillsbury's Best gives you baking quality that never fails!) . . . Fill the Pillsbury pie crust with the following FILLING: 6. Combine 7 Tbsps. Pillsbury's Best Flour and ⅛ tsp. salt in top of double boiler. Add 2 c. scalded milk gradually; stir constantly. 7. Combine 1 c. firmly packed brown sugar and 4 Tbsps. butter; cook over low heat until thick and bubbly. 8. Add to hot milk; place over boiling water; cook until thick and smooth (15 min.). Stir occasionally. 9. Add a little hot filling to 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten; mix well. Return to hot mixture; cook about 2 min. longer. Cool. Add 1 tsp. vanilla and ½ c. toasted chopped pecans. 10. Turn into baked shell. Chill thoroughly. Top with sweetened whipped cream and pecans. This is just about the best butterscotch pie you ever tasted, and our recipe jury predicts it will be any man's favorite after the first bite! Harold Caplan Is Honored By Rotary

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 30—A dinner supposed to be typical of those served in army camps was served to members of the Rotary club last night in the Presbyterian church, when members gathered for a farewell for one of their members, Harold Caplan, who will leave soon to enter the army.

On behalf of the club, Mr. Caplan, a high school teacher, was presented with a handsome gift in appreciation of his services to the club. The dinner was arranged as a tribute to Caplan by Lowell W. Monroe.

Defense Savings Staff Organized In County

"Keep buying to keep 'em flying" is a slogan that fits the present war situation aptly and in order to keep folks buying defense bonds and stamps an organization known as the Defense Savings Staff has been organized.

In Lawrence county, Judge W. Walter Braham has been named as the head of the organization and today he announces his committee-at-large, vice chairmen, and committee chairmen. Other committees will be named later.

Buy and Buy

The purpose of the organization is to spur interest in the purchase of bonds and stamps and to keep that interest spurred. Buying bonds and stamps out of your spare change or "mad money" isn't sufficient, there has to be enough money rolling in to keep the air corps flying, to keep the tanks rumbling along, to keep the Garand rifles popping and to keep the caissons rolling along.

Purchases by individuals, by fraternal organizations by religious organizations by employes through payroll deductions, by school children, in short by everybody who has a stake in this war, will be encouraged and advanced by the Defense Savings Staff.

The committees named thus far by Chairman Braham follow:

Mid-Winter Girl Reserve Meeting To Be Held Here

Conference Planned For February 20, 21 And 22 At New Castle Y. W. C. A.

Thursday night, the general committee for the Tri-State Mid-Winter Girl Reserve Conference met in the club room of the Y. W. C. A. to discuss plans and form sub-committees for the conference, which will be held in New Castle February 20, 21 and 22. Around 175 delegates are expected from West Virginia, southeastern Ohio, and western Pennsylvania.

Martha Struthers, president of the senior G. R. club at the Elm Street Branch and Jane Roberts, president of the junior club at Ne-Ca-Hi, have been on the Planning Committee for this conference along with two girls from each of the other Associations in the area. This committee has chosen as a theme for the conference, "Girl Reserves Prepare to Serve" and discussion topics will be as follows: Price Control, Economy, Morale and Health

In the Girl Reserve Movement of the Y. W. C. A., great emphasis is placed on democratic methods. This means not only that all share in making plans but that all share, too, in the responsibilities. Accordingly, the Girl Reserves of Wheeling will write the worship service for Sunday morning; Clarksburg will make the song books; Washington, the programs; Pittsburgh and Wilkinsburg, the table and banquet decorations; New Castle will do housing and McKeesport will have charge of the bookshop.

Members of last night's general conference committee volunteered to be chairmen of the many sub-committees that are necessary to run a conference. They are, Audrey Evans, chairman of hostessing; Dorothy McCormick, chairman of publicity; Libby Dickey, housing; Ella Pearl Wright, wraps; bureau of information and lost and found; Marian Wallace, envelopes; Doris Johnson, name tags; Ruth Fehl transportation.

Since atending meetings at the "Y" is very difficult for girls in the Shenango club, their girls will make the meal tickets. All the other committees will meet at the "Y" and will include one or two girls from each senior club. Some of the committees also include adults who represent the Y. W. C. A. Board, G. R. committee, or G. R. advisers.

The sub-committees have all planned meetings for next week and this general conference committee made up of chairmen of all sub-committees will meet on Tuesday evening, February 17, to check up on all plans and details.

In addition to the girls on the general committee, are Mrs. Robert A. Eckles, representing the G. R. committee, and Miss Eleanor Horner and Miss Minnie Bodendorfer advisers with the Junior and Senior clubs at NeCaHi, respectively.

Seeing sharply, clearly without strain means better work, a pleasanter disposition, steady nerves.

USE BLACK WIDOW SPIDER EGGS TO WAR ON SPIDERS

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—Have you any black widow spider eggs around the house?

Southern California scientists want to know because the eggs are needed to stem an invasion of black widow spiders in the sugar and pineapple plantations of the Hawaiian Islands.

Dr. W. Dwight Pierce, noted entomologist at the Los Angeles County Museum, explained that a tiny wasp parasite feeds on black widow spider eggs in most vicinities where the deadly spider is found.

He said that the wasp, known as Bacus Californicus Pierce, is one of nature's most formidable foes against the lethal black widow.

"Hence we need more eggs to get more wasps," Dr. Pierce, discoverer of the wasp and for whom the species was named, said: "Persons sending in eggs are asked to describe the exact locality from which they were taken, so that distribution can be mapped."

The wasps, he said, will be sent to the islands in the war on the poisonous pests.

There is a new cleaning solution on the market that will remove soil without tedious scouring and rinsing. You simply dampen a soft cloth and wipe off any washable surface. This liquid also removes stubborn soot, lipstick and crayon marks. No rinsing is required to leave the surface spotlessly clean and unstreaked and it is non-inflammable and odorless.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Victor Quinaux, of suburban Springdale, today mourned the loss of their son, Kenneth, 22-year-old seaman, first class, who was killed somewhere at sea.

The navy department notified the parents Wednesday night that he had lost his life while on duty with the fleet somewhere in the Asiatic war zone.

Kenneth, who had last written his parents at Christmas time, enlisted in the navy 17 months ago and was graduated from Springdale high school in 1939.

Groundhog Joins War Program; No Prediction

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Jan. 30.—It looks like the Axis will have to get along as best it can this spring because old Mr. Groundhog positively is not going to make any predictions.

"No sir," Old Br'er Groundhog said today during an interview. "I won't be a party to helping those Germans or Japs with a prediction about the weather for the next six weeks."

But the furry prophet did make one prediction. Raising a paw in the proper "thumbs up" manner, he said he'd be back doing business at the same stand come next February 2, 1943.

It seems war censorship has prevailed upon the Gobbler's Knob Lodge, followers of the Punxsutawney groundhog, to restrict the weather prognosticator this year from revealing his forecast. They want to conceal any information which might be of aid to the enemy.

But across the state at Quarryville, Lancaster county, the exact reverse was noted.

William Uhler Mensel, 2nd, secretary and treasurer of the Quarryville Lodge, said the army, navy and marine corps were sorely in need of advance weather information and that their groundhog would patriotically do his duty.

With the opposite views taken on the weather prediction, the two lodges also reversed themselves on their annual banquets. While Quarryville will postpone its dinner, the Gobbler's Knob Society expects to fete 225 guests at its annual banquet next Monday night.

CONGRESSMAN DIES TELLS AUDIENCE HERE OF PERILS OF NATION

formation had been brought to his committee only a short time before the attack on Pearl Harbor, which could have averted that disaster, information which would have disclosed the plans which the Japanese government had made for this attack. Fifty witnesses had been summoned, who would have proven that the Japanese were in possession of the most intimate secrets of this country's defenses in Hawaii and the Philippines. The hearing on this subject was abandoned when President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and others in high authority deemed it advisable, because they were yet hopeful of appeasing Japan and keeping them out of the war, he said.

As a result, he pointed out, the lives of several thousand young men were sacrificed, and tens of thousands more will be lost, in order to win back that which we have already lost in the Philippines and may lose elsewhere.

He revealed that well-meaning agencies in this country even cooperated with the Japanese in securing information so vital to them. Of how the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce furnished the Japanese foreign agents with all kinds of information on its harbors, industries, defenses and anything they asked for.

Round Up Aliens

On Tuesday, he said, he had pointed out in Congress that thousands of aliens were still running loose in the Pacific coast area, men who were known to have been active in the past against this government. He said if the policy of coddling these Fifth Columnists did not cease, that if these secret enemies were not driven from defense industries and high positions, that a disaster which would make Pearl Harbor fade into insignificance would occur. As a result, government agents yesterday began taking steps to round up and evacuate from the Pacific coast all aliens of Japanese, German, and Italian descent, he said.

Congressman Dies stated that only a few months ago our government was beginning to be concerned about Communism, but now that Russia had entered into war against Hitler, that we were beginning to take a softer attitude against these agents of a form of government entirely opposed to democracy, men who are sworn to project their form of government on any and all occasions. He asked how long Stalin would permit the American Legion to set up an organization in Russia to teach the principles of Americanism?

He told of how various governmental agencies, sponsored by Communist leadership, had been engaged in making maps of the underground subway system of New York, and vital defense utilities in many key cities; of how men working on these projects were found with autographed copies of Earl Browder's works, and of how only yesterday, a petition bearing the names of two millions signers had been presented to President Roosevelt, asking him to free Browder. "These people could get all the information they wanted. Our committee was denied it, and balked in its efforts by our sense of liberalism; our smugness. Someone was afraid we might offend the governments which these subversive interests were working for," he said.

He told of how Pennsylvania Motor policemen were taken over into New Jersey, and smuggled into a German Bund meeting, securing license numbers of 600 automobiles which conveyed the participants in this meeting to their camp side, behind barred gates. Ninety-five per cent of those attending were found to hold positions, some of them key ones, in defense industries in that section.

Names Communists

He gave the names in a dozen instances of men who have been known to be high in the councils of the Communist party in this country who have been occupying high positions in government agencies, and who have been recommended by his committee for dismissal.

To those who are in doubt about the principles of Fascism, Communism and Nazism, he defined it very clearly as that form of government in which the individual subordinates everything to the will of the state, while Americanism is that form of government which recognizes the eternal truth that the rights of man come down from God.

"The time has come," Congressman Dies stated, "when the people of this country will have to quit trying to see how much they can get form their government and turn to seeing how much they can give to it. Ahead of you is a great period of suffering and sacrifice. You and your children must pay and pay, not only with your sweat and tears, but with your blood. Only God knows why this great scourge has been brought upon us, but we must become great patriots again. We must now resolve to dedicate our all to our country's cause. The fate of our nation depends on us and our generation. We must turn to God for aid and guidance. Liberty is something we must work, and sacrifice, and pray for. May God give us the determination to preserve our freedom. When the war ends and chaotic conditions come, let no slick-tongued demagogue turn us away from our principles of democracy. America can, must, and will prevail."

Introduced By Green

Congressman Dies was introduced by Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools. Prior to his address, a half hour concert was presented by the American Legion band, directed by George Moore, which delighted the audience. In addition, there were numbers on the xylophone by Miss June Forringer, and just before Congressman Dies spoke, members of the Shubert Sextet presented three patriotic numbers in their usual delightful manner, accompanied by Mrs. Richard K Allen.

Congressman Dies was given an ovation at the close of his address. He drove here yesterday from Washington for the address and after spending the night here, left at an early hour to be back at his desk at the capital, taking up anew his bitter fight against those enemies of our government who do not dignify themselves by the wearing of their country's uniform.

He was guest of a group of Legion of Honor members and Mayor Charles B. Mayne and Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen at dinner in The Castleton prior to his address last evening.

Red Cross First Aid Lessons

LESSON 9

Unconsciousness

In examining an unconscious patient, there are different causes, and there are different kinds of unconsciousness. Always look carefully for stopping of breathing, bleeding, poison, or sunstroke. A special treatment must be given for each.

There are three kinds of unconsciousness. First is red. Symptoms are red or flushed face and a strong pulse. Place in lying position, head slightly raised, keep quiet. Apply cold applications to head. Loosen any tight clothing around the neck. Give no stimulants, and have just enough heat to keep the patient warm. Transport very carefully in lying position.

'WHITE' UNCONSCIOUSNESS CITED

Symptoms for white unconsciousness are pale face and weak pulse. Keep quiet in lying position, head level or low. Apply external heat. Use inhalation stimulants if there is no bleeding and no head injury.

Blue unconsciousness are cases requiring artificial respiration.

Apoplexy may be a cause of unconsciousness. The symptoms usually are face red, pulse strong but slow, the pupil of one eye larger than the other, one side of the body or one limb more limp than the other, mouth may be drawn to one side, and the patient completely unconscious. Lay patient on back with head and shoulders slightly raised, apply cold cloths or ice bag to head, and insist on absolute rest. Do not move the patient if it can be avoided. Use no stimulants, and keep the patient warm.

Feel Faint? Lie Down

If one feels himself about to faint, the ideal thing to do is to lie down quickly with the body level. If the individual is in a sitting position, he should bend forward at the waist, putting the head between the knees. If he is in a position where he can neither lie nor sit, then he should kneel on one knee, as if tying a shoe, thus putting the head lower than the heart.

General advice for fainting is to keep the patient lying down, and lower the head. If it is not possible to lower the head, elevate the lower limbs, loose any tight clothing. An ammonia inhalant or smelling salts to the nose often produce immediate effects. Sprinkling the face with cold water also stimulates circulation to the brain. If the fainting is prolonged, apply heat to the body and call a physician.

Geiger Becomes Postal Inspector

New Castle Post Office Clerk Is Appointed To New Post

Appointment of Floyd W. Geiger, a New Castle post office clerk since November 1, 1929, as a postal inspector of the United States Post Office department was announced here today by Postmaster William R. Hanna.

Geiger took the required examination during the past summer, qualified and now has received his appointment from Washington.

Postmaster Hanna will swear him in here before he departs for the capital and three weeks of training Sunday morning.

Following training, he will be assigned to some postal district in the United States.

Geiger, who is married, has resided at 407 Garfield avenue, and becomes the first New Castle postal clerk to win such an appointment in the federal service.

Announcement of his successor has not been made.

Passenger Rate Increase Given

State Commission Allows 10 Per Cent Increase For Railroad Fares

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30 — The Public Utility Commission today gave all railroads operating in Pennsylvania authority to increase their passenger rates 10 per cent.

The new rates will go into effect one day after they are filed with the commission. Receipt of the new tariff is expected momentarily. The increase will apply to all fares except the one and one-fourth cent a mile allowed members of the armed forces on furlough and extra fares charged on certain trains. The fare for other passengers is now two cents a mile.

The commission's action was taken in conformity with that of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which earlier approved a 10 per cent increase in interstate commerce fares.

A sharp dissent to the P. U. C.'s action was filed by Commissioner Thomas C. Buchanan, who charged it was taken "without even glancing at the record."

Buchanan asserted the Interstate Commerce Commission's order would have no effect on Pennsylvania rates without similar action by the Public Utility Commission.

News Briefs From City Hall

One of the oddest thefts in recent years reportedly occurred on the Taylor mink ranch, Pionesta township, Forest county, last night, according to a State Motor police teletype message received here today. The report stated five female and one male mink and seven boxes (nests) were stolen. It is believed the thieves committed the theft to breed the mink.

Police received a report yesterday from John C. Marshall, 517 West Madison avenue that his motor vehicle had struck and damaged two stone pillars on the north side of the Public Square park.

Jack Borland, age 6, of 116 Englewood avenue, has scarlet fever and Ethel Gorst age not given, 111 Terrace avenue has mumps, according to reports made to the city health department.

John Reedy, 349 Neshannock avenue, reported to police that milk has been stolen several times from his residence.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne today imposed a fine of $3.00 on one "Bob" O'Laughlin for alleged incessant blowing of an auto horn. Officers H. E. Richards and William Alligier reported the occurrence.

Mail To Honolulu Is Delivered With Speed Despite War

Letters From Home Boost Morale Of American Troops; Mail Clearance Expedited By Staff Of 220

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HONOLULU.—Questions such as "Where's my mail from the States?" and "Is my mail getting through to the Mainland?" are today being answered in Hawaii with a reassuring "Yes."

And everybody's happy!

Morale, already high in this Pacific outpost, has taken a lift as a result of the receipt of "letter from home" and by the knowledge that letters mailed in Honolulu are reaching their destination in the United States with commendable speed in spite of war-time regulations.

Captain Harold R. Shaw, director of communication control, deserves credit for clearing up the tangled mail situation which was the inevitable result of the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor which transformed Hawaii from a peaceful community to a combat zone.

Assisted by a staff of 220 men and women co-workers, Captain Shaw has expedited the release of mail to the point where delay is negligible.

Mail Cleared Within 24 Hours

"We are now clearing mail within twenty-four hours after it reaches the Honolulu postoffice," Captain Shaw told International News Service today. "We are right on top of the censoring of out-going mail. We are not censoring in-coming mail. That is being done in San Francisco.

"We are eager to get the mail cleared. We are aware of the keen national interest on the mainland regarding how people are getting along in Hawaii. And we know, too, that the prompt exchange of mail is a stimulus to morale."

The public—from Uncle Sam's gobs to the presidents of business concerns—is learning how to cooperate with the authorities and this fact is facilitating the clearance of mail. For example, all but 242 of the 140,587 pieces of mail examined by Captain Shaw's department the week ending January 3 were cleared with a minimum of delay. And the situation has improved steadily since.

Self-Censorship Campaign

Captain Shaw has conducted a campaign of self-censorship by individual letter writers with excellent results.

He advised them:

"Think first; then write."

He urged letter writers to keep the following questions in mind when penning communications:

1.—Do I know what I am writing? Is it a fact or is it something picked up on the street?

2.—Does the person to whom I am writing have any business knowing this?

3.—Would the Japanese admiral, the Japanese emperor, Hitler or Mussolini give their right arms to have this information?"

Such self-censorship, according to Captain Shaw, is an aid to every one concerned in the routine of communications control.

Terrific Tie-Up At First

A terrific tieup of mail communications occurred immediately after the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7. Letters flooded the postoffice but, because of the immediate imposition of military and naval censorship, they had to be carefully scrutinized with the result that mail piled high.

Both out-going and in-coming mail was delayed considerably for a few weeks but as time went on the situation improved.

"The Japs couldn't have picked a worse time for the mail standpoint to stage their attack," said Captain Shaw. "The postoffice was swamped with letters from people here to their relatives and friends in the States. On top of this came the rush of Christmas mail. Of course, delay was inevitable.

"Now, however, the mail situation is well under control."

Heavy Volume Of Mail

An indication of how heavy the mail was running is shown by the fact that Captain Shaw's records disclose that for the week ending Dec. 20, 1941, a total of 62,085 pieces of mail were examined. Of this amount 61,521 pieces were released. The remainder, which was objectionable, was returned to the senders.

Of the 65,824 pieces of mail examined the weeks ending Dec. 27th 65,499 pieces were released.

The crush of mail began to lighten at the turn of the year. The week ending January 3rd, 140,587 pieces of mail were examined and 140,345 pieces released. That means all but 242 pieces that week which showed the people were becoming educated in self-censorship.

Before assuming his duties in Honolulu, Captain Shaw spent three months in Washington, D. C., with a group studying the question of national censorship of communications. He is a dark-haired, dark-complexioned man of about 40, tolerant in his approach to the knotty problem he is handling and, judging from the manner in which the mail is moving, is a first class executive.

Blessed are the poor. They do their own work and have no dumb help to ruin their possessions.

Religious Activities Must Be Maintained Babson Warns Nation

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Fla., Jan. 30.—What effect will business conditions have this year on churches and other religious activities. The financial operation of our churches constitutes a huge business enterprise of themselves. Entirely aside from their spiritual importance, churches and their allied foundations rank high in the value of their financial and property assets. The outlook for these humanitarian agencies is, therefore, more important to our business and social structure than is the outlook for the railroads, utilities, or any other industry.

BABSON

Financial Competition

For the first time in many years the churches are up against real competition in their solicitation of funds. Churches have always remained outside of other local community drives for charitable purposes and, I believe, rightfully so. Community Chest drives have especially been operated in an efficient and successful manner although I question whether this success will continue indefinitely. Church finance committees might well take a lesson from their book. Millions of dollars are raised each year by Community Chests which in turn care for a variety of participating charitable organizations. Their appeals are widespread. To on extent, they have cut into the funds available for churches.

In addition, there are this year many war agencies of a charitable nature that are issuing calls for help. Perhaps the most important are the Red Cross and the United Service Organization. Such agencies will be generously supported. The purchase of Defense Bonds and particularly the proposed plan of "allotting" a percentage of one's earned income for these wartime securities will further sidetrack church offerings. The desire of givers to help the church is as great as ever, but the demands on income are so much greater. Rising living costs is another competing factor. Hence, many wrongly feel they must cut down their contributions to churches.

Location of Churches Important

Churches which serve in defense areas comprising a population of skilled workers ought to do better financially this year. Such people are earning higher wages than ever before. These wages will continue and pedhaps even increase while the war lasts. This year for the first time many of these workers will be hit by income taxes. This may affect their contributions. I am inclined to believe, however, that with their larger earnings many of these people will feel more generously inclined toward their churcn.

The so-called "white-collar" class in the medium income brackets have in the past been an important source of such contributions. Those in this group—especially those living in non-defense areas—have little to look forward to in the way of wage or salary increases. Many not engaged in armament industries may lose their jobs as the effects of rationing are felt. They are also particularly affected by the new income taxes. Hence, churches located in non-defense areas will find it more difficult to raise funds this year than in previous years.

The Spiritual Appeal

Churches are needed even more this year than last year. From a spiritual point of view, they should gather great strength. People are beginning to feel that religion, or some form of spiritual worship, is the only common denominator left to them. This is becoming a very tangible part of their lives. In this age when there are so many disquieting events to upset people emotionally, they are again turning to their churches. When going to church myself, when talking with laymen, and from the character of the mail I receive, I sense a groping for real religion that has not been evident for a long time. But—irrespective of this—we know that lasting business prosperity can exist only when based upon the Ten Commandments. Let us churchmen get out of an inferiority complex and boldly tell the world so.

I forecast without hesitation that some day there will be a return to religion among all sects. This may or may not be a return to the "old-time type"—but it must appeal more to the hearts and emotions of people as well as to their intellects. Certainly, churches of all creeds offer more opportunity today for service than ever before. I feel very strongly that more and more people will become interested in their respective churches or in some form of religious activity if actively approached. Thus perhaps, through their very numbers, their contributions, while individually small, could in the aggregate bulk large. This is the hope of offsetting the present inclination of many church members to currently reduce their offerings.

Leaders Should Act Now

My "Three I's of Success" apply to the churches today as they have always applied in business. These are Inspiration, Industry and Integrity. Of the third, "Integrity", there is no question regarding the professional leaders of our churches and synagogues. I do, however, wish that a large number of these pastors, priests and rabbis would put more inspiration and shoe leather into their work. Because too many fail to be real LEADERS is one reason for the decline in church attendance and contributions.

Any pastor, priest or rabbi can make or break his church. Today offers them a great opportunity. They should so inspire their own people, including their finance committees, to the point where these committee members will have the courage to go out and raise needed funds for their churches. People usually are eager to help financially if they are properly approached and particularly if they are convinced that their money will be well spent. Let us make them realize that they will save themselves only as they save the churches.

Hints On Etiquette

Never accept an invitation and make a mental reservation that if something more interesting turns up you will break it. That is very rude.

Weather Affects Some Local Trees

City Forester Says Number Of Inquiries Made About Cracks In Trunks

There are quite a number of tree lovers in the city, who have been mystified by finding large cracks that have appeared in their Norway maple trees, also sycamore trees, and have made inquiries of Owen Fox, as to what is the cause of this.

This far, we have had mild weather, but for some below zero weather, the beginning of this month.

Until the frigid spell, tree life had been throbbing with their life's sap within their thunks. This sap, instead of returning to the roots in the ground, where it should be at this time of the year, had remained in the tree trunks and froze there.

The sap freezing, develops pressure from within, which causes the trunk to develop cracks.

Mr. Fox says that these cracks may bring permanent injury and death to the tree if the condition is not remedied.

He advises that if the crack appears at the tree crotch, a bolt should be inserted and the trunk brought together. The crack sould then be coated with white shellac, or good tree paint, which will seal and keep out the water, also the insects in the summer.

Big Increase In Employment Is Predicted

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—With the automotive industry now carrying war orders of approximately eight billion dollars, a tremendous increase in employment over the June 1941 peak will be necessary with a greater number of women being offered employment, Ernest C. Kanzler, chief of the war production board's automotive branch said Thursday.

Kanzler, in his first press conference since taking over his post, predicted that the peak in employment in the automotive industry will see an increase of one and three-quarters over the top figure reached last June; that the peak will be reached by the end of this year or early in 1943; and that the industry can expect continued increased war orders.

NEW CASTLE NEWS

OUT OF RANGE—New York Ranger scorers fail to get the puck past Goalie Johnny Mowers of the Detroit team in New York game.

Union-Bessemer Butler-New Castle Top Games Tonight

With only three battles listed for county hardwoods tonight, capacity galleries are anticipated.

It's almost a cinch bet to predict a full-house for the attraction billed at Bessemer High. The piece de resistance pairs Bessemer High and Union Township High in an important Section 20 number.

For the Scotland Laners, the embroglio is one of those "last stand" contests. Defeat practically eliminates the Unionites from the current running. This being the case, the Union flippers will give to the marrow of their bones.

Bessemer, riding the crest of a six-game winning streak in the league and sporting a seven-game skein as a result of Tuesday's non-league triumph of Lowellville, can pad its penthouse tenure by winning, since the rest of the league brothers either play non-league foes or are enjoying a rest.

With so much at stake, the county rivals will dig deep into their cage kits to emerge on the winning side. The game will follow a preliminary, slated to start at about 7:15 o'clock.

New Castle High's second half team will derive considerable and welcomed experience tonight in its skirmish with Butler High at George Washington Junior High. The main go follows a prelim between the "jayvees" of both institutions.

Fans who file into the North Hill gymnasium will see two of the hottest clubs in the torrid W.P.I.A.L. ranks. The local favorites have moved into a tie for top honors in Section III by flattening Ambridge, New Brighton, Beaver Falls and Ellwood City in the order named.

Butler jarred the Section I ranks by lampooning Ford City Tuesday night, 25-22. The Soapminers became the first to maul the Forders and consequently soared to the top.

Coy Craine, who flips field goals with the accuracy and rapidity of a machine gun dishing out lead, will be the main attraction as Wampum's two week-old gymnasium.

The colored athlete added further to his already illustrious success story by dropping more than 20 points against Darlington Tuesday night. If Craine continues his present pace, he may break the mark set by Paul "Lefty" Minner, former crack shot from New Wilmington High.

While these three local machines strut their stuff, Westminster's Titans will be girding for their most important clash thus far—Saturday night's engagement with Toledo university in the Ohio town.

Junior League Games Saturday

Four games will be played in the junior church basketball loop at the "Y" on Saturday. At 4:15 o'clock the First Christians play the SS Philip and James team.

At 6:15 o'clock the First Methodists play the Central Christians with the other two games following in this order: First Presbyterian vs St. Marys, and First Baptist vs St. George Greek little "Fighting Spartans".

New Castle To Play Butler In Non-Loop Game

Locals Seeking Revenge For Defeat Suffered At Butler Earlier In Season

RESERVE TEAMS IN PRELIMINARY

New Castle high basketball team will try hard tonight at George Washington gym to atone for a 36 to 34 defeat handed them at Butler earlier in the season, when they battle the Butlerites. The reserves of both teams will play the preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

This will be the final non-league game on the local card. The game shapes up as one of the best of the season to date here. Butler has a crackerjack of a team and they vill try hard to nake it two in a row over New Castle, something they have never been able to accomplish heretofore.

Team Great Rivals

New Castle and Butler have been great rivals for many years both on the gridiron and hardwood court and the teams always fight hard to win this particular event. Butler has been taken out of Section Three and put in Section One, removing a menace to New Castle and the other Section Three games.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will be minus Ross, Cooper, Parou and Young when he comes to makeup the lineup for the game tonight. It will be Lee, Ciazza, Melichar, Zubkowsky and Burris, or Stewart in the starting roles. In the game at Butler Ross and Cooper had 18 of the 34 points made by New Castle.

Following are the probable lineups for the game tonight:

New Castle		Butler
Lee	f	Iannotti
Ciazza	f	McCarren
Melichar	c	Paffrath
Zubkowsky	g	Phillips
Burris	g	Denny

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Troublesome days are ahead for the Lawrence County Baseball league but probability exists that the league will operate this season. It may not possess the class of former years but will prove a tutoring ground for youngsters. There's no disputing that many of the boys who have been on baseball club rosters will be called to the service. However, there will some who will not be called and to fill out the clubs it may be possible to secure some boys who are not of draft age. In discussing baseball today President Alex Samuels stated he would call a meeting of Lawrence county team managers for the middle of February when plans for 1942 will be discussed.

Three marine majors recruited from football coaching ranks have agreed that the nation needs athletics now more than ever and have endorsed proposals that colleges schedule regular contests with service teams. They are Major Bernie Bierman, Minnesota; Major Pat Hanley, Boston U, and Major Ray Hanson, Western Illinois State Teachers college. The majors are taking "refresher" courses in military tactics at the Quantico marine base.

Bos Pastor and Gus Lesnevich will fight tonight in New York. Pastor is a 10 to 5 favorite. Promoter Mike Jacobs expects the pair to attract $25,000 worth of customers.

Some of the juniors who have boxed here will appear in the semi-finals of the junior Allegheny Mountain association A. A. U. tourney in Pittsburgh tonight.

GENEVA UPSETS TITAN FLIPPERS BY 49-46 COUNT

Classy Covenanters Outclass Westminster In Major Cage Upheaval

CAPACITY GALLERY WITNESSES BATTLE

(Special to The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Jan. 30.—Geneva 49, Westminster 46.

This, better than a flock of adjectives, tells the story of an upset in the collegiate basketball world Thursday night.

While the nerves of more than 1,700 fans swung like strings of a harp, Geneva, recent conqueror of Duquesne in another stirring reversal, put a temporary halt to the title aspirations of the Titans on Beaver Falls high floor in one of the most thrill-studded battles ever unfolded on the valley court.

Count Tied, 35-35

As the rivals lined up for the final period, the scoreboard showed a 35-35 count. Dan Visciarelli looped a long fielder as hostilities got underway. Charles Goldblum, who replaced Joe Spak near the end of the second quarter when the Westminster guard left the tussle via the four personal foul infraction, canned a free toss. Willard Jersey, Covie center, met the same fate as Spak when he charged Wasik. The Titan center muffed the Annie Oakley.

Billie, Geneva captain was awarded a technical foul and converted to give the winners a 38-36 edge. Visciarelli widened the gap with another long double decker. As Wasik missed a foul for the Titans, Goldblum leaped in the air and scored on a pretty tip-in shot. With six and a half minutes left, "Buzz" Ridl electrified the stands with a sensational one-hander to deadlock matters at 40 all.

Charles DeVenzio, Geneva forward, was pushed as he shot. The ball dribbled through the mesh. DeVenzio muffed the charity flip as Geneva led, 42-40. O'Hara replaced Fox for Westminster. DeVenzio continued his amazing display by pocketing a deuce near the center of the court. Dale Dunmire got a free toss and scored. Geneva sported a 44-41 margin with 3:20 left to play

DeVenzio notched a foul but Stan Wasik retaliated seconds later with a shot under the rim as the Titans trailed 45-43. Visciarelli flipped one out of two free heaves to give the smooth Ransom-coached team a 46-43 margin with 1:55 left. Ridl revived the Titans' hopes by converting a free toss.

Rayz Settles Game

Ridl committed his fourth personal foul and left the encounter with a minute left, "Bill" McLhinney coming in. Palmer made the foul. Frankie O'Hara got a shot under the basket and scored to cut the lead, 47-46 with 44 seconds left. Johnny Rayz settled the struggle with a deuce under the hoop. He was also fouled but elected to take the ball out of bounds with 22 seconds to go. That's how it ended.

Westminster started off by snatching a 4-1 lead which the fighting valley team soon overcame. Westminster spurted and took a 10-7 lead as the period closed. With a few seconds gone in the second, Geneva tied the count and went ahead on DeVenzio's shot under the rims and was never worse than tied thereafter.

Canning shots from difficult angles, Geneva grabbed a seven-point lead as the halfway mark neared. Spak sank two long fielders and then committed his fourth personal, Goldblum replacing him. The Titans fought gamely and cut the edge, 22-19, at the half.

Geneva canned its first three shots in the third to forge ahead 28-21. Goldblum's two beautiful fielders put the Titans back in the game. Dunmire and Ridl kept pace with Palmer's pair of one-handed flips by scoring under the mesh. As the period came to a close, Ridl fired an overhand fielder to tie the count at 35-35.

Titans Off On Fouls

The struggle was won at the foul line. Westminster, ranked among the most consistent performers at the charity strip, potted only 8 out of 17. Geneva converted 15 out of 20. From the field Westminster did well enough, outscoring the victors 19 to 17. The Titans bombarded the rims 66 times for an average of slightly more than 28 per cent. Geneva's mark was a little better than 24 per cent as a result of 69 tries.

Johnny Rayz, Charles DeVenzio and Dan Visciarelli were the whole show for the winners, contributing sensational shots throughout the encounter. For Westminster, Dale "Smokey" Dunmire was the classiest man on the court last night. He was high man for the losers with 15 markers. "Buzz" Ridl played a bangup game, hitting the cords for 12 points.

Westminster, winner of 8 out of 10 clashes, meets another stiff test on Saturday night, facing Toledo university at Toledo.

Geneva and Westminster, by the way, play again on next Tuesday night in New Wilmington at 8:15 o'clock.

Lesnevich-Pastor Battle Tonight

Winner Of Heavyweight Bou Tonight May Get Chance With Joe Louis

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The No. 1 mystery along the very placid shores of Jacobs Beach—"who will be Joe Louis' next opponent?"—may be solved at Madison Square Garden tonight when rugged Gus Lesnevich, the world's light-heavyweight champion, will meet Bicycle Bob Pastor of New York in a ten round bout.

Promoter Mike Jacobs has assured the citizens that he may use the winner of this fight against Private Louis in a bout for the world's heavyweight title and the Army Relief Society here in March. But other sources claim that Melio Bettina, the Beacon, N. Y., southpaw, or giant Abe Simon will get the March shot.

Pastor has already fought and lost to Louis twice while Gus hasn't had a crack at him and neither has Bettina. Simon has had one chance and was kayoed in 13 rounds so it would seem Gus, by a spectacular win, or Bettina, would be the logical choice.

LET US BE GOOD AMERICANS

From Washington comes word that our Government is much disturbed over the tendency among some people to load up on food, clothing, household goods, and other articles.

The reason our Government is concerned is that hoarding hurts the war effort, creates needless scarcities, and tends to inflate prices . . all of which could be avoided by a little patriotic cooperation and self restraint.

We are assured that if every good American will pursue his normal habit of buying only what he needs, when he needs it, we will all have enough of practically everything.

We make this statement in a spirit of service and cooperation to our country . . . and we appeal to every loyal American not to hoard anything himself, and to do everything in his power to discourage others from buying more than their normal needs.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The most important baseball meeting in nearly 25 years will be held here next week. Many things will be done, but not all of them for publication at the moment. The magnates face problems peculiar to the times, problems having to do with the future of the clubs themselves, to mention just one angle, and they are wary of discussing too freely this personal business.

They have other things to think about, too—a certain increase in night baseball in the major leagues, at least until such time as blackouts may be deemed advisable. Even the die-hards, who have fought stubbornly and bitterly against change, finally have acquiesced and will line behind the enlarged night baseball program. President Roosevelt requested it.

Will Carry On

Baseball is going to carry on during the war, also because the President asked that the program in general not be curtailed. We need baseball in times like these, was the tenor of his recent message, and the magnates were glad to hear it.

But it may be extremely tough going for some of them. There is no telling what will happen. That's what the magnates will attempt to anticipate when they gather here. They at least can let themselves be governed by what they learned during the other war, when they faced the future without precedent. There had'nt been a real, man-sized war during baseball's lifetime until that other one came along.

What the magnates will be eager to know specifically is how he crowds are going to respond all summer long with minds filled with other, gloomier things and with so many boys away.

The magnates also will be concerned over their personnel. Many of the standout major leaguers are in the service and many, many more must follow. Along with them have gone and will continue to go the unpublicized lesser lights from the majors and hordes of minor leaguers who might have been culled for fill-ins until the regulars get back.

The baseball minors probably have been harder hit than any other single branch of athletics because for the most part these are youngsters, serving their apprenticeship toward eventual major league berths. They have fewer "outs". The result will be failure of many minor leagues even to start the coming season.

It would be interesting to know, too, what effect these times will have on that peculiar individual known as a holdout, who begins his wrangles along about now. Will they be fewer, because they know the magnates face a gamble, or will they be more numerous because they realize that now, above all times, every ballplayer is indispensible to his employer?

Very Few Holdouts

I think the holdouts will be scarce. Another quite human angle to mitigate against their hollering too loud and too long for too fancy money is that they are fortunate enough to be staying at home to play baseball, when many another man is out there slogging away for his $21 per and not knowing where he is likely to land next.

The big news quite naturally will center around Joe DiMaggio, the Yankees' peerless outfielder, because of his preeminent place in baseball. The guess is that he will sign quickly. As to that, however, the Chicago White Sox already are up to their ears in a prolonged salary wrangle with Thornton Lee, the lefty with 22 wins for last season.

But DiMaggio's position and Lee's are slightly different. Lee is looking ahead to the Sox as strong pennant contenders, especially if the Yanks lose a few more guys. You can almost read his mind on that.

All of which comes under the heading of "baseball during wartimes", a vitally important item right now as the magnates are prepared to tell each other next week.

Penn State Plays Temple Saturday

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 30.—Only two Penn State athletic teams, basketball and wrestling, are scheduled to see action this week-end, but both aggregations will be facing crucial tests.

Coach John Lawther's cagers will invade Philadelphia to battle Temple's high-flying Owls at Convention Hall tomorrow night. The Cherry and White cagers have come out on the short end of the score in the last four games with the Nittany Lions, and will be favored to break the strong of State victories.

Penn State's basketball team will be facing Temple without the services of Dave Hornstein, 6 feet 5 ices f Dave Hornstein, 6-foot 5-inch sophomore, who will not see action because of an ankle injury received in practice early this week.

Miltons Will Battle Saints

The Milton A. C. one of the strongest independent teams in New Castle will play the St. Vitus church loop championship team on Sunday at the Arena, following a preliminary in which the Milton Jayvees will play a fast local team yet to be selected.

On Saturday night the Milton team will journey to Youngstown to play the Mission 20 Club of that city at the Christ Mission floor at 9 o'clock. The players will meet at the usual place at 7:30 o'clock to make the trip, it was announced by Coach Bill Patton.

Factor Girls Win From N. Y. A. Five

The Factor girls swamped the N. Y. A. girls team at the Falcon Hall last night 78 to 9 before a large crowd. On Sunday the Factor girls are bringing the famous Warren Packards here for a game at the Falcon Hall.

The Factor scoring last night was paced by Ara Feldkemp with 22 points, and Kate Smtih and Ann Hordig each with 14 points. The passing and team-play of the Factors was applauded lustily by the fans. The Sharon Buhl girls originally scheduled for last night had to cancel until a later date.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

What's new in sports today?

"You've heard of golf in January in Miami and California?" writes S. H. Sr. "We've got it right here in New Castle!" continues the contributor. "Some of the Sylvan Heights winter linksmen are Art Prioletti, Mike Lombardo, "Tinny" Lombardo, "Marty" Segedi, Sam Haycock Jr., Jack Snyder," the informant concludes.

Dick McGeorge, of the Toledo Blade, sends us a few lines on Bob Gerber, Toledo university's scoring machine. The mustached cager, the guy Westminster will try to coral tomorrow night, is averaging close to 21 points per game and needs but 130 points to break the Ohio record of 1,189 set by "Chuck" Chuckovits, who also played in a Toledo cage romper.

Bespectacled and sporting a tiny whisk broom under the smeller Gerber, a 6 foot 4 job, is "uncanny in his timing and flips many baskets as a result of tip-ins. He uses a hook shot with devastating effect from either side, is a real threat from long range and is exceptionally good on defense," to quote McGeorge. Hey, Mc, can he cook?

Roy Crews, the Ellwood City welterweight, did a bit of pinchhitting a few nights back and tingled the spines of Rochester, New York, fans. Substituting for Pete Misto, the local mitt slinger outslugged Ray Tintino, of Elmira, New York, in a five-round joust. Also on the same card, Billy Reale, Princeton bricklayer, dropped a close nod to Lloyd Wiliams, of Rochester.

Sparks for the stove league:— Frank McCormick of Cincy, has replaced Lloyd Waner as the toughest man at the plate in the National League. The Cincy first sacker struck out but 13 times, an average of 50-2 trips to the plate last season. The Phily teams will be piloted by managers whose total years on earth are 139. Connie Mack, of the Athletics, is 79, and Hans Lobert (of the Phils, is 60.

Draft And Army Enlistments Hit State Grid Team

Penn State Squad Is Being Hard Hit By War—Freshmen Team Also Hit

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 30.—Penn State's football squad, which was expected to lose only several outstanding players through graduation in June, is being hard hit by the draft and enlistments in the army, navy and marines.

Six lettermen, three backs and three linemen, have already entered the armed forces. In addition, two promising candidates from the undefeated Nittany Lion freshman team have also been called to the colors.

Losses have been most severe in the Lion backfield where Bill Debler, Ralph Ventresco and Quarterback Paul Weaver have left college. Weaver was the only returning regular from last year's starting backfield.

During the 1941 season, Debler alternated with Pepper Petrella, a senior, at the starting left halfback position, while Ventresco understudied senior Bill Smaltz at fullback. All three backs were juniors who were slated for starting posts next fall.

Along the front line a trio of talented sophomores will be missing when Coach Bob Higgins opens Lion practice sessions. Regular guards Ted Kratzke and Jim Bonham, and reserve tackle Bob Halpin are also in training camps.

From State's great freshman team which defeated Bucknell, Colgate, Cornell, Syracuse and Army, tackle Clarence Smith and fullback John Moody have been drafted.

Coach Higgins was counting heavily on filling the holes left by juniors and sophomores with players from the yearling outfit, but with the draft age now lowered to 20, many of the Lion Cub stars fall within the new age grouping.

MANY SCORERS

One hundred and 28 players scored one point or more during the National Football league season. The total output in the 10-team circuit was 1,812 points on 243 touchdowns, 209 conversions, 47 field goals and two safeties.

Service Men Free At Yankee Stadium

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The gates were thrown wide open today at Yankee stadium for service men.

"Soldiers, sailors and marines," said Ed Barrow, president of the Yankees, "may enter the stadium free of charge on any day they decide to see the Yankees play, whether it be a weekday, Saturday, Sunday or holiday."

ALL HOME GROWN

All of the returning letter ends and tackles for Auburn's 1942 football squad reside in Jefferson county.

Falcons-Farrell To Play Sunday

Sunday afternoon at the Polish Falcon Hall on Miller avenue, the Polish Falcons will play the strong Farrell A. C., Mercer county championship quintet, it was announced today by Business Manager Eugene "Gabby" Kendra.

The Falcons and Columbiana did not play last night as scheduled the latter team failing to show up at the Falcon Hall.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

This day we are very sorry . . . sorry that some of you were not present last night to hear Congressman Martin Dies. His speech was excellent . . . his subject matter was of vital importance to each and every good American citizen and his manner of presentation was perfect. Every one could hear and understand his every word . . . and we believe every one present thoroughly enjoyed every moment of the evening. We, the people, must awaken to what is going on around us. Are we going to sit back and let secret organizations operate right under our noses . . . and by so doing, undermine the greatest country in the world. Come fellow citizens, let's keep on the alert, let's not be led astray . . . when life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is taken from a peoples what do they have left . . . FEAR . . . and fear breeds revolt . . . and revolt leads to slavery. Come now, are we going to let ourselves become slaves?

The American Legion Band under the direction of George Moore played some very fine music last evening . . . snappy music always does something to the American public . . . and last evening was no exception . . . what that something was we can't rightly say . . . but it's something.

* * *

I bet that when Congressman Dies returns to Washington he has something mighty fine to say about the Schubert Sextette, who so wonderfully rendered three beautiful selections last evening. Their presence made the entire evening perfect . . . We congratulate the committee from the Legion of Honor who planned the whole thing.

* * *

How do you read a newspaper or a magazine . . . do you start from the first page and go to the last . . or do you start at the back and go forward. Really it doesn't matter in most cases. When we look over a magazine we start at the back and work forward, but one magazine we have difficulty with . . . and that is LIFE . . . you really can't enjoy the pictures if you work from the back forward . . . Rather a simple thing to talk about isn't it . . . but we people have more fun than anybody.

* * *

Read the classified ads . . . sell, buy, trade or what have you the easy way.

Dull Trading Day's Record

Colorless Session Of Stock Market Develops During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The stock market was extremely colorless in dull trading today.

Prices were mixed at the opening. A slightly firmer tone developed in the second hour, but absence of volume soon checked rallying efforts.

There were a few notable changes. Life Savers, recent weak spot, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific and Coca-Cola each were up a point or more at their best levels. Lima Locomotive gained almost as much to a new 1941-42 top.

Douglas Aircraft dropped a point in an otherwise quiet and steady aviation group.

Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Electric, American Smelting, N. Y. Central and Standard Oil of N. J., all held around last night's closing levels.

Youths Confess Three Robberies

Point Out Residences Robbed To Police Officers Here

Several recent burglaries here were solved last night when two Sharon youths, captured in Franklin, were brought here by local and State Motor police and pointed out three homes which they burglarized.

The homes which the youths said they robbed are occupied by E. B. Hawkins, 302 East Moody avenue, money and jewelry stolen; Attorney J. W. Rhodes, 1005 Highland avenue, Elgin watch stolen and Mrs. J. A. Gilkey, 305 Rhodes place, jewelry stolen. They denied entering other homes where robberies reportedly occurred.

The boys gave the names of John Linonis, 19, and William Fabian, 16, both of Sharon.

The boys told police they came here in an auto, and after knocking upon doors of dimly illuminated home, forced their way into the homes, if no one was at home.

They said that some loot they threw into the Shenango river and disposed of other articles in Youngstown.

According to Chief of police W. G. McMullen, Chief of detectives R. A. Criswell and Motor Policeman Robert Klare, the boys said they stole in Franklin alone valuables worth thousands of dollars and after selling the loot received only several hundred dollars cash.

The boys were questioned by the officers and also Mayor Charles B. Mayne who went to Franklin and brought the boys here.

They have been charged with burglary in Franklin and will be charged with a similar offense here after which they will be returned to Franklin, according to Police Chief McMullen.

New Method Of Operating

Medical History Is Being Made In New Plan Tried In New York

REFRIGERATION IDEA BEING DEVELOPED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—What may prove one of the most important contributions in modern medical history—a type of operative technique which may save thousands of lives of soldiers wounded on the battlefield and civilians injured in air raids—is being perfected at City Hospital, the New York Journal-American said today in a copyrighted story.

The story added:

By means of this technique, so successful that it is being adopted in hospitals throughout the United States, emergency operations now are performed on an extremity of the body without anesthesia such as ether, gas-oxygen or novocaine.

Given two pails of ice and the simplest of surgical equipment, a surgeon now can amputate a soldier's shattered leg and the soldier will feel no pain—either during the operation or after it—lose no blood, suffer no shock and develop no infection.

The American Medical Association has recognized the procedure, and granted a sum of money to city hospital for further scientific investigation.

Use Of Refrigeration

The new procedure makes use of refrigeration, or treatment by cold, popularly known as the crymotherapy method. This was highly publicized not so long ago as a treatment for cancer.

While it apparently has not fulfilled the hope held out for it in that respect, it seems now to offer striking possibilities in surgery, particularly in cases where patients are so weak that operative shock is likely to cause death no matter how successful the operation.

The technique embraces use of a tourniquet to stop circulation of the blood, and refrigeration at 40 degrees Fahrenheit to act as an anesthetic.

A patient will eat a hearty lunch, enter the operating room, chat with nurses and attendants during the operation, and return to the ward quite ready to eat his dinner later.

A patient who must have his leg amputated below the knee first has ice bags placed about the level where the tourniquet is to be applied.

Sitting propped up in a chair, if he is strong enough, he then places his leg in a deep pail and ice and icewater are packed about it.

The leg remains in the ice and ice-water at a constant 40-degree temperature for more than two hours. The patient then is ready for the operation.

He is placed upon the operating table, the ice is removed, and the amputation performed. The surgeon is permitted to take his full time: two and one-half hours of refrigeration results in full anesthesia for one hour afterward.

Still, those who don't take it seriously are better citizens than the gullible ones who enjoy broadcasting crazy rumors.

All bills must be paid; and for want of a defense effort last year, it can be only a defense effort for the next two years.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 27.—Virgin forest stands may be found in a number of the state forest parks and recreational areas, according to Milford Bratton, director of the bureau of parks, department of forests and waters.

One of the largest and most picturesque tracts of virgin timber in the commonwealth is found in the Snyder-Middleswarth state forest monument located near Troxelville, Snyder county. Within this area are approximately 250 acres which were left untouched by the lumberman's axe. The park was named in honor of Simon Snyder, the third governor of the commonwealth, and Captain Middleswarth, a distinguished officer in the War of 1812.

Detweiler Run state forest monument, located in the Logan state forest, Huntingdon county, comprises an area of 50 acres of great white pine and hemlock and a dense undergrowth of rhododendron.

Alan Seegar state forest monument in Huntingdon county, contains hemlocks, pines and oaks of unusual size and beauty, some of which are over four hundred years old. This area was named for the young American poet who lost his life in France during the First World War.

The Joyce Kilmer state forest monument located in Union county contains 21 acres of old timber which fittingly commemorates the soldier-poet who wrote "Trees."

Mount Logan state forest monument is named for Chief James Logan, a noted Indian orator, and is located in Clinton county. This monument comprises 47 acres, a large portion of which supports many giant trees of unusual size.

Cook forest park is beautifully located along the winding Clarion river, and includes a portion in northeastern Clarion, southern Forest and northwestern Jefferson counties. Veteran White pines and hemlocks are growing here in a forest environment unsurpassed in the commonwealth. The dense growth of trees, rhododendron and mosses within this area make an appeal to all those who enjoy the out-of-doors.

Avalon Attorney Returns To Horse And Buggy Travel

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan 30.—Old dobbin and an 1887 rig made a comeback today to beat the rubber shortage.

Attracting as much attention as did the first horseless carriage at the turn of the century, William Walker, an attorney in nearby Avalon, rode into town today in one of those one-horse shays that went out of style with bustles and hoop skirts.

Walker contended the return of the horse and buggy would save valuable gasoline, steel andn rubber which, in turn, will hasten the downfall of the Axis powers—and in addition, will beat the traffic cops, he hopes.

"Traffic laws won't apply to my horse 'Duke' and me," he said. "All the city ordinances about not parking in front of fireplugs and at street corners apply only to motor vehicles. You can see that 'Duke' and this rig isn't a motor vehicle. Maybe the cops can, too."

Walker added that the last time he drove the rig to town was back in 1907, and in those days, the traveler had "a jug of corn under the seat on the way in, and a jug of store liquor under the seat on the way home."

Judge Braham Urged For Governor

Judge W Walter Braham's name was advanced today as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania. The boom for his candidacy originated in Sharon where a number of his friends have sent postcards out over the state to leaders in the Republican party.

The card reads, "Repuolicans . . Nominate and elect Judge W. Walter Braham, Lawrence County—Governor—Soldier, Scholar, Gentleman. Win with Braham in 1942. Baham for Governo Committee."

Judge Baham is in Hersney today attending a meeting of the Pennsylvania State Bar association and could not be reached for a statement.

Kind Waitress Given Reward

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30—Miss Edna McGibbeny, 27-year-old Pittsburgh waitress today knew how nice it is to be nice.

When her cousin, a coast guardsman, and his family entered the dairy store for breakfast, Edna, who knew the family, insisted upon paying the 40-cent check out of her own pocket because she hadn't seen the sailor in over a year.

A stranger, overhearing the conversation, walked to the front counter and handed her a $25 check, saying:

"This is a gift for being so nice." It was signed by J. Cobert Horner, of Clarksburg, W. Va.
